Chairman of National City Bank and Its Investment Affiliate Tells Senate Committee of Funds He Received.

DISCLOSES OFFICERS PROFIT 'SPLIT-UP'

Details of Selling Bank Stock to Members of Family at Loss, Avoiding Income Tax, and Then Buying It Back.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Charles Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank board, testified today that he sold thousands of shares of his bank's stock in latter part of 1929 "for tax purposes." This stock, he said, was a quantity he had bought in the midst of the panic to support the market.

Later, he said, he sold 1800 shares to members of his family, taking care which he was enabled to him at $270,000, thus avoiding income tax payment for 1929.

The losses had been such that I had to let it go, he explained. He later bought the stock back, said, because he "could not let purchaser take that loss."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Charles Mitchell of New York testified before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee today that as chairman of the boards of the National City Bank and its investment affiliate, the National City Co., he received a total of $481,000 in bonuses from the "management" of these two organizations during the years 1927, 1928 and 1929.

In addition to his salaries as head of the two financial companies, he received $425,000 a year salary from National City Co. Mitchell's direct testimony was given this afternoon in response to questions this morning by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, regarding his compensation during those years.

At the morning session Senator McNamara (Rep.), Michigan, pointed out that the committee was not trying to inquire into Mitchell's personal affairs by inquiring about his compensation.

This committee is not interested in the personal affairs of Mr. Mitchell or any other witness, said McNamara. "We are interested in these unreasonable salaries, bonuses paid to unsound bankers and unsound sale of securities, personally disliking delving into private affairs of anyone, but we are interested in the public knowledge of the sale of securities which were detrimental to the public interest."

After, when Pecora had asked whether his commissions on profits from the two organizations for 1929 had not amounted to $1,238,324 for 1929, McNamara asked the witness whether he was envious of Eugene C. Kennedy, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and George W. Hill of the American Tobacco Co., who received bonuses from their companies.

Mitchell did not reply. Senator Brookhart, Progressive Republican from Iowa, observed that Congress could profitably reduce some of its time reducing compensation of bank presidents and stop trying to reduce the salaries of $100-a-year Government officials.

Mitchell's "Management Plan." Pecora's guidance, Mitchell said, was the operation of the National City Co. "management plan," by the executive officers of the company split up among them 20 per cent of the annual profits of that organization after deducting 8 per cent on the stock of the organization. The deduction of this 8 per cent was taken care of before the management plan was taken up. What the management plan took the 20 per cent of the surplus went to the surplus account.

PAYS $3,449,107, LARGEST GIFT TAX U. S. EVER RECEIVED

Murry Guggenheim Delivers Check to Treasury After Supreme Court Ruling.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Murry Guggenheim of New York, industrialist and financier, yesterday deposited in the Treasury Department a check for $3,449,107—the largest gift tax ever paid by an individual in the history of the United States.

In 1917 Guggenheim established two trust funds, one for his son and the other for his daughter, totaling around $20,000,000. The funds were made revocable and therefore came outside the scope of the gift tax.

In 1925, however, he relinquished his power to revoke the trust, and by a decision of the Supreme Court two weeks ago was held liable for a gift tax of $3,449,107. Guggenheim himself attended the ceremony of depositing his check in payment.

Harry Vogt, 45 years old, salesman for a drug company, was found dead in the road near his home on Northside drive, in York Village, this morning, shortly after he had started out with a dog for a walk.

He was wearing no hat or coat and apparently had fallen dead when about 200 feet from his house. A neighbor, C. T. Daniels, saw the body and notified police. Vogt's wife said he had been in good health and had been carrying on all right when examined for life insurance several days ago. A daughter, Mrs. Mary Lou Herd, also survives.

RED PLOT IN KINDERGARTENS 35 Held in Hungary Accused of Spreading Propaganda

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 21.—Thirty-eight persons were arrested yesterday in connection with an alleged Communist conspiracy in the kindergartens of Hungary.

Women agitators, police said, had been visiting playgrounds regularly and have incited Communist doctrine in children of kindergarten age.

The same organization, "The Central Committee of Red Students," was said in a semi-official communication to have been carrying on propaganda in grammar grades and high schools.

"Think Twice Before Making Decision"—Withdrawal From Geneva Is Almost Certain.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Feb. 21.—The League of Nations report concerning Japan's Manchurian policy and declaring against recognition of Manchukuo was presented at a special session of the League Assembly this afternoon. After its presentation the League adjourned to Friday when the report will be debated.

Shortly after the adjournment the Japanese delegation issued a statement repeating that the Government at Tokyo would be unable to accept the League's report. The statement said that a grave situation would arise if the Assembly should adopt the report, and appealed to the Assembly "to think twice before making this decision."

This is the report drafted by the Conciliation Committee of Nineteen and communicated last week to all the world's governments. Japan has indicated that if the Assembly adopted it the Japanese delegation will be withdrawn from Geneva and Japan may secede from the League.

Statement by President.
Paul Hymans, Belgium's Foreign Minister and president of the Assembly, told the members in presenting the report that the Conciliation Committee of Nineteen had failed to effect a peaceful adjustment.

"At the outset of the dispute," said he, "the council received assurance that the withdrawal of Japanese troops into the zone of the South Manchurian Railway would be conducted as rapidly as possible in proportion as the safety of the lives and property of Japanese Nationals was effectively assured, and that Japan hoped to carry out this intention in full as speedily as possible."

"Today the three Eastern (Manchurian) provinces are occupied. Japanese troops have crossed the great wall and attacked Shanhai. It is announced that an operation is being prepared to occupy the province of Jehol."

Nevertheless, he said, the way to conciliation will not have been closed until the Assembly adopts the pending report.

He stated, however, said Hymans, "to make a new appeal with a view to conciliation, for it would be necessary not only that fresh proposals which the assembly could accept should be made to it, but also that it should receive assurance that the existing situation would not be aggravated and that new military operations would not be undertaken."

Then he proposed adjournment until Friday without debate in order to give full time for all the Governments to examine the report and to instruct their delegations at Geneva.

"At this grave juncture," he said, "we must not give even the appearance of precipitancy."

Formal Notification of Japanese Withdrawal Soon.
By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Feb. 21.—Japan's formal notification of its withdrawal from the League, planned in view of the certainty that the League will condemn Japan's policy in Manchuria this week, will be issued some time in March, it was learned today from an official source.

GLASS TELLS WHY HE REFUSED CABINET POST

Says He Can Be More Useful to Administration in Senate Than Treasury.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Senator Glass (Dem., Virginia), denied in a formal statement today that he had declined an invitation to be Secretary of the Treasury in the Roosevelt Cabinet because of "differences with the President-elect on fundamental issues."

Some Cabinet speculators have reported that the Virginia's refusal to accept the Cabinet post resulted from a difference of opinion between himself and President-elect Roosevelt on the issue of currency inflation.

The Virginia's statement follows in full:

"There are being printed so many speculative reports concerning my declination of the post of Secretary of the Treasury and the reasons thereof that I think it both pertinent and desirable that I should make an authoritative statement on the subject."

"I have not refused the transfer from the Senate to the Treasury on account of my age or the state of my health. All reasonable persons should agree that if I am too old for the Treasury post, I am too old to remain in the Senate."

"The simple fact is that I prefer to remain in the Senate because nobody has shaken my conviction that I can be of more usefulness there to the country and to the incoming administration, than at the Treasury."

"This conviction, urged to President-elect Roosevelt at the outset, has persisted to the end and prompted my final answer. It was confirmed by the unanimity of expression in the Senate and in Virginia. I deeply regret that I could reach no different conclusion."

PLANS FOR NEW BRIDGE OVER MERAMEC RIVER APPROVED

Structure to Be on Highway No. 61 at Point Near Old Span.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Plans for a new bridge to carry U. S. Highway No. 61 across the Meramec River south of St. Louis were approved by the War Department today.

The new bridge will be about 100 feet upstream from the present narrow one on the northern, or St. Louis County, end. It will be farther upstream on the Jefferson County end, as dangerous bends in the approaches will be eliminated.

The roadway will be 40 feet wide. The bridge is part of the State Highway Department's plan for widening No. 61 to 40 feet between Melville and Crystal City.

Leaps from Third Story.
Henry Rosner, 55 years old, worried and nervous because of his inability to find work as a paper-hanger, fractured his right ankle about 9 a. m. today when he jumped 30 feet to the ground from the third story window of his home, 2738 Wyoming street. He told attendants at City Hospital, where he is recovering, that he had worried over his unemployment.

French Ambassador and Minister Herridge Received Following Debt Talk With Ronald Lindsay

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—President-elect Roosevelt extended his conversations with foreign representatives today, conferring first with the French Ambassador and then with the Canadian Minister. Yesterday he conferred with the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, who went to the Roosevelt home immediately on arriving from London, where he had gone to discuss international conferences with Premier MacDonald following a war debt talk with Mr. Roosevelt.

William Duncan Herridge, the Canadian Minister, reached the Roosevelt home just as Paul Claudel, the French Ambassador, came to see him in New York today.

"I had a delightful meeting with Mr. Herridge, the Canadian Minister," said the President-elect. "These included, of course, the world economic conference and inter-government debts."

"These conversations will continue and the new Secretary of State, after his selection is announced, will doubtless see Mr. Claudel."

SUES ATHLETIC DIRECTOR OF ST. LOUIS U. FOR $10,000

Woman Alleges Charles Walsh Struck Her; He Denies Charge and Says She Fell.
Suit for $10,000 based on a charge of assault and battery was filed in Circuit Court today by Mrs. Byrel Sherman against Charles Walsh, athletic director of St. Louis University. She charges that at 4 a. m. on March 17, 1931, at Spring avenue and Lindell boulevard, Walsh struck her and she fell, breaking her ankle.

Walsh says that the suit is the outgrowth of a dispute that arose when he made a sudden stop in front of the Coronado Hotel, where he lived, to avoid hitting Mrs. Sherman's husband with his automobile. He said Sherman refused to leave his place in front of the machine and that when he, Walsh, got out to persuade him to move, Mrs. Sherman started into the street and slipped and fell. He denies that he struck her.

DOCTOR DECLARES
MAYOR CERMAK HAS PASSED CRISIS

Dr. Karl Meyer, Chicago, Says Wound in Lung Has Healed—No Indication of Pneumonia.

'CANNOT FORESEE
WHAT MAY DEVELOP'

Mrs. Joe H. Gill, Another Victim of Assassin Who Attacked Roosevelt, Is Better.

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21.—Dr. Karl Meyer of Chicago stated today that Mayor Cermak has definitely passed the crisis attending his wound by an assassin who made an attempt on the life of President-elect Roosevelt.

Dr. Meyer made his statement after a short visit to the hospital room of the Chicago Mayor. "The wound in Mayor Cermak's right lung has healed and the lung has expanded to normal again," he stated, explaining that recession of the lung, as occurred in the case of Mayor Cermak, is usual whenever it is punctured, but that such recession was regarded by physicians in this case as unimportant.

"The liver is back to normal. There is no indication of any complication," Dr. Meyer continued. "I am convinced that the crisis has definitely passed. Of course, we cannot foresee what might develop."

"There is no indication of pneumonia. The only adverse developments that might occur now would be those that might occur in any man 60 years of age."

At 10:30 a. m. a bulletin from Mayor Cermak's bedside said: "Mayor Cermak continues to show steady improvement. There are no untoward symptoms. Temperature 98.2, pulse 88, respiration 26. He is now sleeping."

Dr. Meyer said that the removal of Zangara's bullet from the Mayor's body would be a dangerous operation, and would not be attempted.

"The bullet is so close to the spine that an operation for its removal would endanger Mayor Cermak's life," Dr. Meyer said. "It will not be removed."

Dr. Meyer explained that the bullet was lodged in the eleventh rib on the left side of the spine. He said a wall of tissue would form around it, and then it could not move.

He said the presence of the bullet itself would cause Mayor Cermak no discomfort. The tissue wall around a bullet forms in about 10 days, Meyer said.

Mrs. Gill's Condition.
Mrs. Joe H. Gill of Miami, also seriously wounded by bullets Giuseppe Zangara fired, was reported as having a "quite comfortable" condition. Hospital authorities said the improvement in her condition during the last three days was "remarkable."

The Mayor's condition has caused orders that only close relatives may be allowed in to see him and listen to him for a minute.

The 80 years in prison that Zangara laughs at may be followed by additional penalties.

Zangara was sentenced yesterday to 30 years at hard labor, gangster, was arrested at his 300th birthday station in East St. Louis yesterday on a warrant issued in Clinton County, Ill., charging him with robbery and kidnapping. He was held in jail at Carle in default of $10,000 bail.

The warrant charges Shelton and two other East St. Louisans, Vaughn Holman and Edgar Menzies, with robbing Clifford Schilling and Mrs. Lisa Rich of $4 and a watch after taking them to about 30 miles, on the night of Dec. 20. Holman and Menzies were identified by the victims according to Sheriff Erlinger of Clinton County.

Shelton, who is 40 years old and married, was never associated with the Shelton gang, officers say.

CONVICTED MAN ADMITS KILLING AUTO SALESMAN

C. F. Dailey, Under Life Sentence, Says He, Not J. W. Dial, Who Was Acquitted, Fired Shot.

Clarence Floyd Dailey, under sentence of life imprisonment for the murder of Eldridge N. King, automobile salesman, told Sheriff Deuser at Clayton last night that it was he who shot King, an automobile salesman, in a holdup on a lonely road in southern St. Louis County last Aug. 5.

Scheduled to be taken to prison today, Dailey for the first time said he himself had fired the fatal shot, which previously he had charged had been fired by John Weldon Dial, 20-year-old Texan who was acquitted of the murder of Clayton last week. As a State's witness, Dailey connected Dial directly with the murder, although he refused to say, as he had charged in a confession, that Dial fired the fatal shot.

Dailey's Statement.
"On my last evening here in Clayton," Dailey said before a newspaper last night, "I want to make a statement in reference to the fatal shooting of Eldridge N. King on Aug. 5, 1932, it being my intention to make a clean statement in order that the doubt as to who shot King may be dispelled."

"You shot Mr. King?" asked Sheriff Deuser. "Yes."

"You blamed the shooting on John Weldon Dial?" "Yes, but that was wrong. It was me who said 'Stick 'em up.' When I said King made for Dial, it was me that King started at."

ACTOR TRAPPED IN EXTORTION ATTEMPT AGAINST WOMAN

Young Englishman Admits Threatening Mrs. John Sloane in New York City.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—A young English actor who said he needed money for his destitute parents consented to police today that he mailed a threatening letter to Mrs. John Sloane, socially prominent Broadway production, was arrested last night as he took a dummy letter from the mail box at his Manhattan rooming house. His confession was made in the lineup at Police Headquarters and he was charged with blackmail and extortion.

Mrs. Sloane received the letter on Feb. 16. It threatened her with death unless she sent the money to "Frederick Gordon" at Manthrop's address. She turned the letter over to police.

Manthrop said he met Mrs. Sloane recently when a performance was given privately at her home. He said his parents lived in Norfolk, England.

Representatives of the St. Louis League of Women Voters advocated the amendment of the bill to provide for the appointment instead of election of the Board of Education and suggested that the membership should not exceed seven. Such a proposal, however, had no chance. St. Louis is predominantly Republican and a predominantly Democratic House would scarcely give a Republican Mayor the right to choose the members of the Board of Education, who, in turn, would appoint department heads who, according to the committee members, would immediately give jobs to their friends and relatives.

The measure, as approved, provides that the Board of Education shall consist of the three Republican and three Democratic members of the Board of Education, who, in turn, would appoint department heads who, according to the committee members, would immediately give jobs to their friends and relatives.

BIPARTISAN SCHOOL BOARD BILL ADVANCED

St. Louis Measure Favorably Reported by Missouri House Committee.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21.—The St. Louis Board of Education bill, providing for three Republican and three Democratic members, was favorably reported today by the House Committee on Municipal Corporations.

The measure, according to members of the St. Louis School Patrons' Alliance, will have the effect of "putting the schools back into politics." However, committee members, predominantly Democratic, as is the membership of the House, asserted that the St. Louis School Board was already in politics.

They established from opponents of the bill that at present 11 of the 12 board members are Republicans and one a Democrat. This, they asserted, was proof the board was in politics. Several St. Louis members shouted: "A Democrat can't get a job as janitor, or anything like that, in any of the public schools."

ROMANCE OF SHOE STORE WINDS UP IN DIVORCE COURT

Alexander Block, Wealthy Inventor of Foot Appliances, Sues Former Cash Girl.

The blighted romance of a 17-year-old cash girl who married a man 22 years her senior, hoping to become "the best-dressed woman in St. Louis," with an automobile and a chauffeur, is disclosed through a divorce suit filed by Alexander E. Block, wealthy orthopedic specialist of 6223 Kingsbury avenue, against Mrs. Dolly Block.

Block, a former shoe salesman who made a fortune with his foot appliances patents, alleges his wife, who is 32, an active business woman, was possessed of a violent temper, slapped him and went out without her wedding ring, representing herself to be unmarried.

Mrs. Block, who resides at the Castlereagh apartments, 6220 Delmar boulevard, did not comment on the suit, filed at Clayton, other than to say it would be "vigorously contested."

Wife's Story of Marriage.
But in a deposition, taken by Rodow H. Abeken, her husband's attorney, she told the story of their marriage in 1914 and touches on the turbulent events leading to their final separation last May, although she admits leaving him three times previously.

Describing her 58-year-old husband as "a cradle snatcher," she told how she met Block while he was employed in the shoe department of a downtown department store and she was a cash girl.

Later Block began to cash in on his interest in the foot troubles of his customers, experimenting successfully in devices to relieve the feet, obtaining patents for them, becoming a foot specialist and opening offices in the Frisco building. He gave the girl who was to become his bride a job in his office.

Telling in her deposition how he urged her to marry him, Mrs. Block said she "didn't love him, yet said 'yes' and observes she "felt sorry for him."

After relating that he told her that she would be "the best-dressed woman in St. Louis, with a chauffeur and car," she remarked: "It was just grand—just like a dream. But things never turn out that way. Why, he wouldn't get the chauffeur—afraid I'd run around and spend too much for gasoline."

TWO YOUTHS WHO SHOT PHYSICIAN GET 20 YEARS

Chester R. Knauer and William Schlessing Caused Permanent Injury to Dr. W. A. Kluegel in Holdup.

Chester R. Knauer, 19 years old, and William Schlessing, 17, who shot and permanently injured Dr. William A. Kluegel, physician, in a holdup in his office at 3101A California avenue last Aug. 13, were sentenced to 20 years in the intermediate reformatory at Alcoa today by Circuit Judge Hoffmeister.

The youths pleaded guilty to charges of assault to kill and attempted robbery with a deadly weapon. Judge Hoffmeister sentenced them to 20 years on the former, 15 on the latter, and sentences to run concurrently.

Before pronouncing sentence the court asked the defendants what prompted the holdup in which Dr. Kluegel was shot in the back, startled, he jumped up from his desk.

"Another man, an ex-convict, was responsible," replied their lawyer, Clark Hudson. "He led these boys astray. He gave them wine to drink and then he put guns in their hands. He waited outside the office and drove away with them after the robbery. The police are still looking for him."

"If that man comes before me," said the court sternly, "he won't fare as well as you young men are going to fare. You have committed a most terrible crime. The man you shot is paralyzed, may never arise again from his bed. He will have to be turned over every two hours by his faithful wife. Every hour of her time must be given to his care."

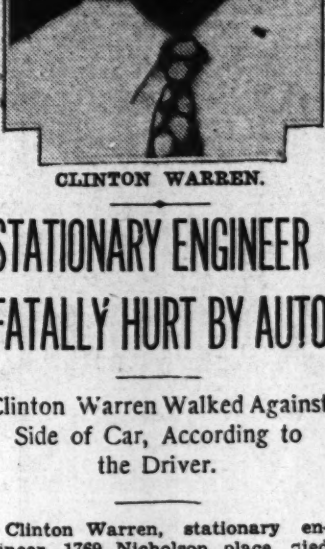

"Because you are young I dislike to give you 20 years in prison, yet your crime merits that punishment. You are fortunate that you may qualify for admission to the reformatory and that you have the best possible chance to become better men."

The court then entered sentence, and the two youthful defendants were led from the room to be escorted to Alcoa within the next few days.

Dr. Kluegel, 45 years old, had practiced medicine in South St. Louis for 20 years. For a few years after graduation from Washington University Medical School he practiced in Perry County, Missouri, where he served as Coroner and Health Commissioner. His assailants were traced through the license number of the car in which they escaped. They got no money.

Becker took the injured man to the hospital. Warren died without making a statement.

JOBLESS 3 YEARS, MAN, 66, ENDS LIFE WITH GAS IN HOME

Joseph W. Novotny Found Dead by Wife and Son—Despondent Over Inability to Get Work.

Unemployed for three years, Joseph W. Novotny, 66-year-old pipe-fitter, ended his life with gas yesterday at his home, 1806 Dolman street.

His wife, Frances, arrived home at 5:30 p. m. and found the following note tacked to the front door, "Keep Out, the Gas Is On."

A son, Francis, rushed home a few minutes later. Together they entered the house and found Novotny dead in the bathroom. He was seated on a stool, with a cloth over his head, and was leaning over a gas heater, which was turned on, but unlighted.

According to the son, Novotny was despondent because of his inability to obtain work.

"management fund" was "a one-third."

Bank Also Has Fund.
Mitchell testified that the National City Bank also had a "management fund" for its executive officers which differed somewhat from the National City Co. plan.

The National City Co., being investment affiliate of the bank, Couzens asked how many securities the company had sold to the public. Mitchell replied that over a 10-year period the total sales were about 20 billion dollars.

"How many of those securities are now in default?" Couzens continued.

"I think we have had difficulty of one sort or another of something under one billion dollars," Mitchell replied.

"Do you think it is a good thing for the public," Couzens pursued, "to have the executive officers receiving bonuses depending on profits from the sale of stock?"

"I can see your point," admitted Mitchell, "but the management fund builds up esprit de corps. An officer becomes interested in the other officers are doing."

"Good thing for the Public?" "I'll concede that it may be a good thing for the organization, but it is a good thing for the public," Couzens insisted.

Mitchell replied by saying the selling of the securities was only a part of the National City operations; that a great deal of work was expended in "manufacturing" long-term credits suitable for sale to the public. The executive officers, he said, spent much of their time in this "manufacturing" process.

"I think your use of the term 'manufacture' is unfortunate," Couzens observed.

Mitchell struck by his use of the term, explaining that the National City Co. engineers and auditors made a close check of all proposals submitted to the organization. He said that the company turned down many more projects than sponsored.

A store of sensationally brilliant, individual shops, where you will find, no matter what price you wish to pay, only the most authentic fashions.

For more than Twenty-Seven years we have strived, with one object in view, to make Kline's the finest apparel store in St. Louis. That we have more than succeeded is evinced by the ever increasing patronage of fashionable women.

Kline's is St. Louis' Fashion Institution. Kline's is supreme in its field. Admittedly, These are not idle statements. They are facts. Ask anyone.

Since the start of our expansion program, last spring, with the opening of our new Fourth Floor Dress Shops Kline's has been the most talked of store in the west. Deservedly so. For here one finds fashion always, whether in the most inexpensive little dress or an original creation by Hattie Carnegie!

You are invited to attend the opening of this modern store tomorrow. We assure you that it will be a visit you will always remember.

Directors of the "Fashion Originators Guild of America," the finest makers of apparel in this country, will be here tomorrow in honor of the occasion.

BAR BILL BEATEN, WILL BE CALLED UP AGAIN

House Votes 69 to 51 Against It With 31 Members Absent—Burton's Mistake.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21.—The Missouri Bar Association's bill to clothe it with authority to discipline unethical lawyers met defeat in the House yesterday afternoon as a result of an error in judgment in calling it up for passage when 31 members were absent.

Chairman Burton of the Judiciary Committee, in charge of the bill, was lured into a mistaken feeling of security by the almost unanimous favorable vote when it was perfected last week. Since that action, however, lawyers who object ed to coming under its strict provisions had been quietly working with non-lawyer members and had developed an unexpected strength. Burton called up the bill when only 115 of the 145 members were present. The bill received only 69 votes, seven less than the constitutional majority required for passage. The negative vote totaled 51. Had there been nearly a full attendance of members the passage of the bill would have been assured.

Burton and Representative O'Bryan of Missouri immediately changed their votes to the negative to make certain that they could call the bill up again when absent members favorable to it were present. Under the rules a motion for reconsideration of a bill which has failed of passage must be made by a member recorded as voting against it.

The bill proposes the creation of the Missouri State Bar and requires membership as a requisite for the practice of law. A member suspended for unethical practices would be automatically disbarred during the period of suspension.

BILL TO LICENSE DRIVERS OF AUTOS REACHES HOUSE

Highways Committee Makes Favorable Report On Proposed Law—No Examination Required.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21.—A bill requiring all drivers of automobiles registered in Missouri to obtain operators' licenses, subject to revocation for violations of motor vehicle laws, was reported out favorably by the House Committee on Roads and Highways last night.

The bill approved is a committee substitute for two drivers' license measures introduced by Representative Munger of Scott County and Berry of Kansas City.

Under the substitute measure, all drivers would be required to obtain a license from the State Motor Vehicle Registration Commissioner. The license would be issued without payment of any fee for a period of three years, except that drivers who are not owners of the cars operated would be required to pay a fee of 50 cents for a three-year license and chauffeurs would be required to pay a fee of $3 a year.

No examination as to driving qualifications is required for issuance of the license, but the license would be subject to revocation for law violations. Revocations would be for a period of one year, for offenses such as driving a car when intoxicated; three convictions, with a year, of reckless driving; conviction of any crime punishable as a felony under the motor vehicle laws or conviction of any other felony involving use of a motor vehicle; leaving the scene of an accident which results in the death or injury of another person, or serious property damage; habitual reckless or negligent driving; or incompetency to drive a motor vehicle due to mental or physical infirmities.

Under this bill courts in which persons are convicted of violations of the motor vehicle laws, or of crimes involving the use of motor vehicles, would be required to make reports of such convictions to the Motor Vehicle Registration Commissioner.

The bill grants the holder of a license the right to apply to the Circuit Court for a review if the license is revoked on grounds other than a conviction in court, but does not provide for a court review if the license revocation is based on a conviction.

House Robbed and Bombed. By the Associated Press. GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 21.—The home of Albert D. Hodson, City Collector, was robbed, bombed and destroyed by fire last night with a loss of $10,000. No one was at home.

Neighbors told police they saw a man run from the house with his clothing afire. They said he leaped into Mill River not far away. An automobile which had been reported stolen was found not far from the house and in it was clothing belonging to Mrs. Hodson, an empty gunpowder can and some fuses.

RIVER CAPTAIN DEAD

GEORGE W. KING.

CAPT. GEORGE W. KING, RIVER MAN, DIES AT 72

Officer of Pilots' Association for 10 Years; First Job on Boat at 16.

Capt. George W. King, a river man since 1877 and for ten years secretary-treasurer of the Pilots' Masters' and Master Association of Inland Rivers, died of paralysis yesterday at his home, 3304 Kensington avenue. He was 72 years old.

The association met at his headquarters in the Merchants-Casino Building and voted, in resolutions: citing his half-century of membership, his character and spirit, to drape its charter in mourning for 30 days.

Outstanding among the anecdotes of Capt. King's years on the river was the story of his building a bulkhead under seven feet of water in the Gen. Abbott, an Army Engineers' towboat. On its maiden trip from St. Louis in 1886, the Abbott struck a snag and sank five miles below Commerce, Mo.

A diver was sent for to investigate the damage. Mesquite Capt. King, without diving apparatus, went down and discovered a gash three feet wide and many feet long in the hull. With a helper to stand on his shoulders and hold him down, the captain, an expert ship carpenter, repaired the hole so that the water could be pumped out and the steamer raised. When the diver arrived two days after the boat sank, there was nothing for him to do.

Capt. King was born in Lima, O., and had resided in St. Louis since he was 10 years old. At 16 he got his first river job as a deck sweeper on a packet boat. For a time he was employed by the old Mississippi Valley Transportation Co. barge line. He was pilot of the Dolphin No. 3, of which Capt. John E. Lubben was master, towing railroad ties from Southern forests to St. Louis.

In 1893 he entered the engineer service in this district as mate, pilot and captain. For some years he was chief mate of the Government snagboat Wright. He served also on the Gen. Thomas L. Casey, the Gilmore and the Gen. King. Retiring in 1922 to take his law practice, he was called back to the river by a demanding office in the river men's organization, he was drafted by the engineers in the great flood of 1927 to pilot relief steamers, under command of Maj. John C. Gotwals, among the little known bayous of Louisiana.

Funeral services are to be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Leidenreid chapel, 2223 St. Louis avenue, with interment in St. Peter and Paul's Cemetery. Capt. King is survived by three sons, four daughters and three brothers.

BANK MORATORIUM AT ROLLA

Only Depository in Phelps County Closed for 30 Days.

ROLLA, Mo., Feb. 21.—The only remaining banking establishment of Phelps County, the Rolla State Bank, closed yesterday for a 30-day moratorium ordered by proclamation of Mayor Leo Higley. A statement circulated said: "If in the judgment of our community it seems wise to continue business after 30 days, such a course will be taken."

According to a statement issued by the board of directors the moratorium was not issued to prevent a run, but to "safeguard the deposits of those who have stuck to the ship." The last financial statement issued Dec. 22 listed total resources of $356,404; deposits of $330,481, and undivided profits of $15,922, with no bills payable.

HOUSE BILL TO BAR HIGHWAY PATROL DIES IN COMMITTEE

Adverse Report to Be Made—Similar Measure Has Been Recommended to Senate Is Pending.

By BOYD F. CARROLL, Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21.—The House Roads and Highway Committee refused last night to approve a bill by Representative Alexander of Wayne County proposing repeal of the 1931 act which established the Missouri State Highway Patrol. Chairman Hayward of Shelby County said the committee action was unanimous. The adverse report of the committee, which kills the bill, goes to the House today.

A similar Senate bill was reported last week by the Senate Roads and Highways Committee and is on the Senate calendar for perfection. The bill, introduced by Senator Henry of Butler, probably will encounter considerable opposition.

Since the Henry bill was reported out, an active campaign in opposition to the bill has been started by the Automobile Club of Missouri, which approved the act creating the patrol, the St. Louis Safety Council and numerous civic organizations in Missouri which supported the bill in 1931.

The Missouri Joint Labor Legislative Committee, representing labor organizations of Missouri in legislative matters, sent a letter today to Col. Lewis Ellis, superintendent of the patrol, commending the work of the patrol during the nearly 15 months it has been in existence. The letter stated that the operations of the patrol, since it had been organized, had been "efficient, successful and satisfactory," and the department had been administered as "a benefit to the citizens of Missouri."

"Missouri labor had much to do with securing the legislation creating the patrol, and has more than a passing interest in the operation of the department," the letter to Ellis said. "After having observed the initial experience, we are of the

OUTSIDE STAIRWAY TO FLAT IS TORN AWAY BY BOMB

Plumber Who Had Made Repairs Worked on House Damaged in Ladue Village.

A dynamite bomb exploded last night in the rear of 5330 Easton avenue, tearing away two steps of an outside stairway leading to a second floor flat. There was no other damage.

The owner, Mrs. Elizabeth Huber, 7005 Forsytha boulevard, said repairs had been made on the flat last week. The stairway was rebuilt and the plumbing put in condition.

Mrs. Huber said she did not know whether the workmen employed were union men, but the plumber had told her he installed the plumbing in a residence in Ladue Village which was damaged by a bomb a week ago. The owner of that building, police reported, said he employed non-union labor.

opinion the highway patrol should be continued in operation and that no occasion will ever come to disband the organization, if kept upon the same high plane established under its administration.

The committee is headed by R. T. Wood of Springfield, president of the Missouri State Federation of Labor.

Moratorium Bill Killed. The Calkins-Jones real estate mortgage moratorium bill, providing a method of deferring foreclosures of real estate mortgages, was killed today by the House when it was called up for perfection.

Before the bill was rejected, the House adopted an amendment exempting from the moratorium plan all counties in Missouri with a population of 10,000 or more, rendering the measure virtually worthless.

This bill, which was a substitute for several mortgage moratorium bills introduced in the House, proposed to authorize the postponement of a mortgage foreclosure for one year through the appointment by the Circuit Court of a receiver for the property involved. It would permit the enjoining of a foreclosure, when advertised, and the appointment of a receiver, on application of any person interested. The bill authorized management of the property by the receiver for not to exceed one year. If required payments were not made in that period, the receiver, on court order, would proceed with the foreclosure.

CAMPBELL SAID HE'D ADOPT BOYS, AUNT TESTIFIES

Relative of Furman Brothers, Skaters, Gives Deposition in Their Suit for $1,100,000 Estate.

About once a month for more than three years Hugh Campbell said he was going to adopt Adolph and Harry Furman and "see that they get all I have when I die" their aunt declared in depositions yesterday in their suit for the $1, 100,000 estate.

The testimony was taken in the Boatmen's Bank Building office of George L. Stumm, special commissioner, for Yale University, which would get the bulk of the estate under the will. Campbell left the income of $15,000 each for the Furman brothers until they became 23 years old, or for about two years more.

The Furrans, well-known swimmers and skaters, attracted the wealthy bachelor by their street acrobatics 20 years ago, when they lived next door to his old-fashioned house, 1508 Locust street. Their suit is based on alleged agreement to adopt. Another suit attacking the will has been filed by the guardian for Campbell's invalid brother, Hazlett.

"You be a mother to them and I'll be their father," was Campbell's repeated injunction, testified their aunt, Mrs. Laura Tabachnik of 3223 Lafayette avenue, with whom they resided for 38 months after the death of their mother in 1920. She related that after they had resided with another aunt for three months, Campbell sent for her, greeted her as "Aunt Laura," and, mentioning that the other aunt had slapped Adolph, arranged for Mrs. Tabachnik to take them in.

"I don't want anyone to correct my boys," she said he told her.
"They are my boys, and if there's any correcting to be done, I'll do it." She said he related then that he had promised the mother to adopt the brothers, care for them and leave them his property.
Campbell paid $350 for the furniture of "Aunt Mildred" Roman, 1394 Burd avenue, Mrs. Roman moved out and Mrs. Tabachnik moved in with the boys, she testified. She said Campbell gave her $100 a month for services and expense. In 10 months they moved to a house on Union boulevard because the boys wanted to be near a playmate, she said, and they selected additional furniture while Campbell paid the bills. Rent here was $45 a month, she related, and Campbell increased her allowance to $150. A year later they entered junior high school, and selected a $75 a month apartment on Delmar boulevard near the school and also near the skating rink, she said, and Campbell raised the monthly payments to $200.

Every month, Mrs. Tabachnik testified, she called on Campbell for her allowance. Sometimes she went to his home for funds required in an "emergency," and once she visited him socially on Saturday afternoon, to hear Adolph and Harry play the violin.

"Would I inherit everything?"
Campbell, she related, would tell her how kind he wanted her to be to "his boys," and that "they would never want for anything as long as he lived." Jacob M. Lashly, attorney for Yale University, made a rapid mental computation. "They were with you three years and two months. You mean he told you this 38 times."

That, she said, was about right.
And Campbell had said he told their mother he was going to adopt them and had added, "I mean to do it."
Lashly asked him often that occurred, and she replied, "Oh, off and on; practically each time."
Campbell would say that they were to inherit "everything" he had "whenever he talked of the boys," she said, and added, "His whole conversation was the boys."

Mrs. Tabachnik had been divorced when the boys want to live with her, and ceased to provide a home for them, she said, when she remarried her former husband on New Year's eve, 1924. Under insist-ent questioning, she recalled "little disputes," and asked if she was not about ready to let the Furmans go regardless of her remarriage, assented, "I had them for three years and two months. That was plenty."

She agreed that sometimes the boys were "sassy" and "upset" her.
She would tell Campbell, she said,
"but he wouldn't listen." Their most frequent difficulty, she said, was that the boys would skate until too late for her dinner and then go down and dine with Mr. Campbell.
She said they telephoned her on such occasions.

By rigorous examination, Lashly prevailed on her to tell of a clash with Harry shortly before the boys left her home. She was unable to recall its cause, and she said it had nothing to do with their separation.
She said he did not strike her.

"Started to Raise His Fist."
"You worked on him, didn't you?"
asked the lawyer. She said she had.
"Did you make much headway?"
She had not. She had "just used her open hand," she related, and
"he started to raise his fist, but that was as far as he got."

Campbell congratulated her warmly on her remarriage, she said, but she never saw him alive again. She moved to Chicago, and the Furman brothers visited her once there, when they attended an ice carnival.
She returned before Campbell's death, Aug. 9, 1927, and saw them at the undertaker's, but did not talk

WEST ST. LOUIS TRUST
REORGANIZATION PLAN

Proposal Includes Transfer of 85 Pct. of Bank's Stock to Depositors.

A revised plan for reorganization of the West St. Louis Trust Co., 4101 Easton avenue, will be submitted to depositors at a meeting to-morrow night at 8 o'clock at the American Packing Co., 3842 Garfield avenue.

Under the revised plan depositors would receive a credit of 50 per cent of their deposits in the re-opened bank, and for the other 50 per cent would get proportionate interests in 85 per cent of the bank's stock, which has a total par value of $200,000. The old stockholders would retain 15 per cent of their stock.

Withdrawal of the 50 per cent credit would be restricted as follows: 5 per cent on reopening of the bank, 5 per cent three months thereafter, 5 per cent six months thereafter, 5 per cent each succeeding month.

The bank has about 7800 depositors. Total deposits at the time of the bank's last statement, Dec. 10, 1932, were $1,683,757, and on the day the bank closed, Jan. 13, they were about $1,420,000.

The revised plan has received tentative approval of the State Finance Commissioner, according to C. W. Walters, secretary of a depositors' committee.

"If the plan is rejected," Walters said, "the Finance Commissioner will liquidate the bank, securities and other assets will be sold at current low prices and the percentage received by depositors might be only a fraction of the amount to be realized under the plan."

TWO CAUGHT AFTER TYING UP
DRIVER IN SHACK, STEALING CAR

Posse Captures Men After St. Charles Victim Escapes and Notifies Officers.

Two men who stole an automobile in St. Charles yesterday and forced the driver to take them nearly to Labadie, Mo., in Franklin County, are in jail at Union, the county seat, after being captured by a posse.

The men bound the driver with wire and left him in a shack near Labadie, but were forced to abandon the car when it stuck in a mud-hole. The driver, Warren May, operator of a taxicab service at St. Charles, freed himself and notified authorities. A posse composed of deputy sheriffs, state highway police and citizens captured one man two miles west of Labadie at 6 o'clock last night and the other three miles west of Labadie at 7 a. m. today.

The prisoners said they were Harold Dillie, who is under bond after admitting his part in the holdup of the St. Louis Casket Co. paymaster Jan. 19, and Fred Waldmann. Both said they were from St. Louis but would not tell why they were going to Labadie. Neither had any weapon when arrested. May identified them.

$14,559 OF $20,852 VERDICT
IN STOCK SUIT SET ASIDE

The motion of Harry Epstein, president of American Sportwear, Inc., 1427 Lucas avenue, for a new trial in the suit in which Herick J. Gray & Co., a brokerage firm, obtained a jury verdict for $20,852, was sustained in part by Circuit Judge Green today. That part of the verdict based on the purchase for Epstein of 600 shares of Cities Service Co. stock, in which $14,559 was granted to the firm, is set aside on the ground of newly discovered material evidence.

The remainder of the judgment, for $6293, based on the purchase of Arkansas Natural Gas Co. stock is permitted to stand.

It was alleged that in October, 1929, before the crash in the stock market, Epstein authorized the firm to purchase the securities for him at a certain price, agreeing to make settlement on receipt of the certificates. The certificates did not arrive until after the collapse, and then Epstein would not accept them, it was alleged. The price on the Cities Service, the firm said, was $28.25 a share, and it took a loss of $20 a share at a resale. Similarly the loss at resale on the other stock, bought at $20 a share, amounted to $307, it was alleged.

with them until about a month later, two years after her return from Chicago.

Talked With One About Suit. With some difficulty she recalled details of meeting one of the boys at Forest Park Highlands, where he was on duty as a lifeguard when she attended a picnic there. He showed her a news account of the suit, remarking, "We feel pretty bad about this," she said. She said he dressed and went with her to the pavilion "in conference alone."

She thought this was Adolph, but, with a few questions by Jesse T. Friday of counsel for the Purmans, recalled that it was Harry and she never talked with Adolph about the suit. Victor Hugo Block, 6743 Kingsbury avenue, an uncle of the Purmans, related that Campbell insisted on paying expenses of the funeral and last illness of their mother, when Block was manager of the Portland Garage. Another uncle, Henry Block, 2307 North Kingshighway, told of "rounding-up witnesses," and explained that, since he was not employed at that time, he "thought he would see what he could do for the boys."

EIGHT PLANS FOR ECONOMIC RELIEF

Sends Special Message to Congress Outlining Program "Possible of Enactment" Before March 4.

THINKS ALLOTMENT
BILL UNWORKABLE

Would End Publicity for R. F. C. Loans Which He Says Is Drying Up the Sources of Credit.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. — President Hoover, in a special message to Congress, sent unexpectedly yesterday, urged eight moves to promote "economic recovery," and declared his opposition to the domestic allotment plan of farm relief as "wholly unworkable."

Some measures "looking to the promotion of economic recovery," the President said, have been thus far advanced during the present session "as to seem possible of enactment" before March 4. He listed them numerically.

First in the list, Mr. Hoover placed the bankruptcy bill passed by the House, saying its enactment is "of the most critical importance in this period of readjustment."

St. Lawrence Seaway Treaty. He urged also ratification of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway treaty, enacted by the House of the general principles of the Glass banking bill, and authority for the Reconstruction Corporation "to increase the amount of loans to states and municipalities for purposes of assistance to distress on the same terms as the present act."

After lashing out at the domestic allotment plan, the President recommended also repeal of the authority under which the House may give publicity to loans of the Reconstruction Corporation.

Text of Message.

Following is the text of the message: "There are certain measures looking to the promotion of economic recovery which have been under consideration by the Congress and are so advanced toward completion or enactment that it seems possible of enactment during the present session."

"1. It is most necessary that the principles of the bankruptcy bill which has already been acted upon by the House should be passed by the Senate. The whole object of the bill is to secure orderly co-operation between creditors and debtors, whether farmers, individuals, general corporations or railroads, for mutual adjustment which will preserve the integrity and continuous operation of business, save the values of good will and the continuation of people in their occupations and thus avoid destruction of the interest of both parties. This legislation is of the most critical importance in this period of readjustment. Incidentally such a workable system is highly necessary in order to permit a certain minority of railroads to be so reorganized as to reduce fixed charges and thus relieve the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of drains in prevention of destructive receiverships."

"2. The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway treaty should be ratified. It not only will serve a great national purpose but is of importance now also to relieve unemployment by its construction."

"First Construction Step."

"3. The enactment by the House of the general principles embodied in the Glass banking bill which has already passed the House, greatly contribute to re-establish confidence. It is the first constructive step to remedy the prime weakness of our whole economic life—that is organization of our credit system."

"4. Authority should be given to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to increase the amount of loans to states and municipalities for purposes of assistance to distress on the same terms as the present act. While the corporation has funds available which will last until July, it is desirable that they should be supplemented."

"5. It seems clear that the domestic allotment plan is wholly unworkable. It will do far greater harm than good to agriculture. Fending the return of the great commercial countries to the gold standard and the consequent increase in world consumption and thus rise in world prices, it is essential temporarily to reduce farm production so as to remove the backbreaking surpluses of agricultural products and thus to raise agricultural incomes. The plan proposed by the Secretary of Agriculture some time since for temporary leasing of marginal lands is the least harmful and the most hopeful of all the plans which have been proposed. It has the merit of direct action in reducing supply to demand and thus unquestionably in-

The plan proposed by the Secretary of Agriculture some time since for temporary leasing of marginal lands is the least harmful and the most hopeful of all the plans which have been proposed. It has the merit of direct action in reducing supply to demand and thus unquestionably is

$300,000,000 MORE VOTED FOR STATE AND CITY RELIEF

Senate Passes Bill to Add That Amount to the $133,000,000 the R. F. C. Has Left for Such Loans.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The Senate yesterday voted for an increase of $300,000,000 in the sum which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized to lend to states and cities for the relief of the needy and unemployed. The R. F. C. originally was empowered to lend $300,000,000 for that purpose of which $133,000,000 remains. Accordingly, if the Senate bill passes the House, the R. F. C. will have on hand approximately $433,000,000 for relief loans.

The final vote on the measure was 53 to 16. Of the Missouri Senators, Clark voted for the increase and Patterson voted against it. Earlier, by a vote of 44 to 28, the Senate rejected the La Follette-Costigan bill, under which the Federal Government would have distributed $500,000,000 among the states in the form of direct grants. Clark voted for this bill; Patterson voted against it.

Final balloting came after an afternoon of acrid debate. La Follette of Wisconsin, who told the Senate that one duty of the population of the United States was now on public relief, and that states and cities could not bear the whole burden.

Citing the testimony of numerous witnesses to the measure of relief which has heretofore been extended by local agencies, La Follette declared that "Senators who vote for the Wagner substitute will be voting to prolong the semi-starvation standard of the present."

Dickinson, old guard Republican of Iowa, opposed the provision of the bill providing $15,000,000 for the relief of transients. The thing to do, he said, was "tell them to go home."

"In God's name, where will they go?" exclaimed Johnson (Rep., Cal.) of California. "They have no homes. If they had they wouldn't be on the road. At a recent period they were crossing the line into California at the rate of 1200 a day, and let me say to the Senator from Iowa, many of them were from his State. To say to a man whose home has been destroyed, whose substance is gone, 'Go home' would be inhuman."

"To tell a man in times like these to 'Go home' is the same as telling him to go to 'hades,' interjected Ashurst (Dem., Ariz.). 'To what home will he go?'"

Cutting, millionaire New Mexico Progressive, inquired, "What greater duty the Government owes its citizens than keeping them alive?"

He suggested free entry into the United States of "the natural products of Canada, that is, products of the sea, farms, mines and the forest, and including fish, lumber, wheat, cattle in the winter, and in return he would exempt from Canadian tariffs certain goods from the United States which, in the interests of both countries, may be admitted into Canada."

The resolution was supported by Mackenzie King, who said "the sooner we can bring about such an agreement, the better." Prime Minister Bennett replied that while he thought Canada was ready to enter into closer commercial relations with the United States, the present time was inopportune to take the initiative.

BERNARD SHAW TELLS CHINA HOW TO SOLVE ITS PROBLEM
Advices Spread of Nationalism in Manchuria and the Study of Communism.

By the Associated Press.
PEIPING, China, Feb. 21.—If all the 30,000,000 Chinese in Manchuria were to become nationalists in the Irish way, the Manchurian problem would be solved, George Bernard Shaw said today. He is visiting Peiping on a world cruise.

"There is a Japanese soldier pointing a rifle at every Chinese inhabitant," he said, "but keeping down nationalism is like sitting on a horse's head—there's no time to do anything else. The Chinese should study Communism. It has features which must be adopted by every civilized country which wants to avoid bankruptcy. Cheap labor is the ruin of China. What she needs is industrial progress."

Somebody asked if he were a technocrat.
"Bah," Shaw snorted, "technocracy is nothing new. I said what the technocrats are saying 50 years ago."

LEAGUE TAKES UP LETICIA ROW; PERU NOT REPRESENTED

Special Committee Named to Seek Conciliation in Border Warfare on Appeal of Colombia.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Feb. 21.—Peru was not represented today when the League of Nations Council met to consider Colombia's appeal invoking Article 15 of the League Covenant, calling for an investigation of the border warfare between the two South American nations over the Leticia area.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi, the Italian president of the League Council, said Peru assumed great responsibility in failing to appear in case of such urgency. This absence, however, must not interfere with the council proceeding with consideration of the dispute, he added. It was under provisions of Article 15 that the league sought to settle the Sino-Japanese dispute.

"Edoardo Santos, former Foreign Minister, presented Colombia's case, contending that nation always has sought to settle the dispute through peaceful means. He laid the responsibility for the hostilities on Peru."

Baron Aloisi appointed Sean Lester of Ireland, Dr. Jose Matos of Guatemala, and Salvador de Madariaga, Spanish Ambassador at Paris, as a special committee to seek conciliation between Peru and Colombia under paragraph three, Article 15, of the League Covenant. On behalf of the council he appealed to both parties to do nothing further to aggravate the situation.

100,000 Peruvians Take Part in "Leticia Parade" in Lima.
By the Associated Press.
LIMA, Peru, Feb. 21.—A throng estimated at 100,000 persons, who sang and shouted their enthusiasm, participated in a "Leticia parade," the first organized public demonstration here in connection with border hostilities between Colombia and Peru in the Leticia area.

After the huge procession had filed slowly through the main streets of the city, it arrived in front of the palace, filling the main square. The crowd, with bared heads, sang the national anthem over and over again and shouted "Viva Peru" and "Viva Leticia."

LIMA, O., Feb. 21.—A 39-year-old self-taught astronomer, who works at selling automobile accessories by day, has sighted his fourth new comet in recent years.

Pe by home study has made phone bought his first telescope in 1915 for $15 with money he earned at odd jobs. He then was a high school student. The knowledge of the stars he since has acquired largely by home study has made him outstanding in the field, and he reports regularly to Harvard, Princeton and Yerkes observatories.

His latest discovery, made from an observatory he constructed near his farm home, was recognized by Harvard scientists to whom he first reported it recently.

"The new comet," he said today, "is in the constellation of Cepheus, one of the polar constellations. It is moving toward the southwest, but cannot be seen with the naked eye."

REPORTS LOADING MACHINES HAVE REPLACED 56,500 MINERS
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—A report that machines had taken the place of 56,500 bituminous miners east of the Mississippi River in the last nine years was made to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers today by Newell G. Alford of Pittsburgh.

"Mechanized loading" of coal, he said, displaced 50,300 and stripping displaced about 6200. An additional 75,000 men have been displaced, he said, by the collective effect of improved haulage and gathering, increased use of track cutting equipment and better management with concentration of operations. In addition 149,500 men he found have been thrown out of work by shrinkage in the bituminous coal market.

Dean Donham Declares Remedy For Depression Must Be Found At Home, Not in Internationalism

Considers That Removal of Tariff Barriers by United States Would Be Both Ineffective and Dangerous.

Warns Against Reliance on University Economists, Who, He Asserts, Are Living in the Past.

By CARLOS F. HURD,
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.
WALLACE B. DONHAM, dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration speaking last night at the annual dinner of the Harvard Club of St. Louis at the University Club, said the depression could be cured in about a year by the use of intelligence. He even believed it would be possible within a year or at most 18 months to create a labor shortage. But, he said, this could only be done by comprehensive planning, and by concentration of power.

This concentration, he said, should be accomplished through conferring ample authority on the new President of the United States, not only for planning but for control of the industrial and farm situations. When a listener asked what the Supreme Court would say to this, Dean Donham replied: "I believe the Supreme Court will say any damned thing is legal that will save the country."

Against Specialized Direction.
Donham insisted on the need of general direction and leadership, rather than specialized direction. He gave particular warning against trusting too greatly to university economists, who, he said, were merely specialists, and if placed in control of the situation, would probably muddle it as badly as business and political specialists have done.

He attacked the view of some economists that remedies for present American conditions should be sought in international measures. Particularly, he said, would removal of tariff barriers at this time be not only ineffective, but dangerous, as it would intensify trade competition with England and Germany, and might lead to war.

Without discussing the question whether the depression in this country was caused chiefly by domestic conditions or by world-wide collapse, Donham held emphatically that the remedy must be sought at home. "It is not true," he said, "that the world is growing more interdependent; it is becoming less so, with almost inconceivable rapidity."

The university economists, he said, prescribe the remedies of internationalism, he said, are living in the past.

New "Gloomy Dean."
Dean Donham, portly and jovial of aspect at 55, was introduced by Arthur Boylston, president of the local Harvard Club, as "the new Gloomy Dean." This was a reference to Donham's speech here in May, 1931, when he said that the alternatives then to be faced were "Work or the dole."

But Donham said, last night, that his warning of nearly two years ago had been an understatement. "If we have great restraint," he said, "in pointing to the conditions which our problem, and deal with it as a whole. I under-stated the realities ahead. I say again that we must have planning in this nation—we must start thinking. It is not enough that 100 eminent citizens, before the Finance Committee, should give their independent, unrelated views on things which are significant only in their relationships. We must sit down and think of things in their relation to each other. I have confidence that Franklin Roosevelt will do this. That he will think in terms of the nation. The situation has gone beyond the point where the old check and balance system of government, devised to slow down change, can work constructive results. We need strong, quick, definitive action."

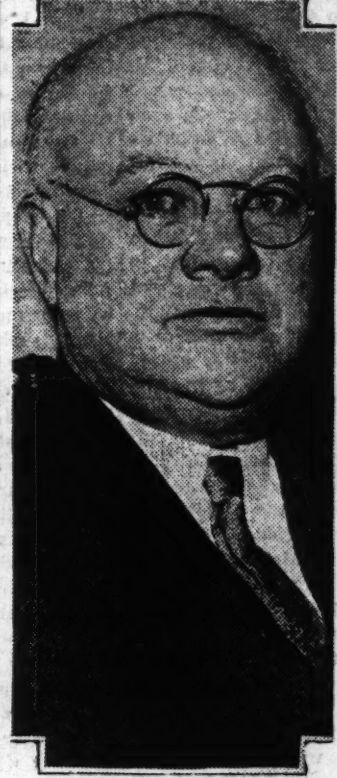

He recalled several times to the necessity, in his view, that the new President should be vested with extraordinary powers, and to his confidence in the President-elect.

"This nation," he said, "suffers from the collapse of business leadership, a shocking collapse. It suffers also from collapse of political leadership. It has lost confidence."

In political leaders, but with a big question-mark beside Franklin Roosevelt's name. There is no other hope for real political leadership.

"I hope Congress will confer on him that kind of support without which planning and control cannot be carried out."

Doubts the Economists.
"We seem to be turning toward the universities more and more. For the first time, the encyclopedias signed by university economists are being taken seriously—in my opinion, to the great danger of the nation."

The president of an Eastern university said lately that the men who have to do, are learning to turn to the men who know. But the trouble is that they don't know—they are just specialists. They are working on premises fixed from 15 to 150 years ago, and they have not reconstructed their conclusions.

"The greatest danger to our universities is that the public, despairing of business men and politicians, may vest university professors with powers which they have no license to use. It would be dangerous to turn for practical decision to any group of university social scientists, who are not equipped to make such decisions, by specialists. The specialists whom we need are specialists in general relationships."

"F. S. Oliver, in his book, 'The Endless Adventure of Government,' points out the danger of following the specialized ideas of the specialists in any field. I fear that the group of university professors to which I belong will be erected into a position of authority for which we are not equipped, and that we will mess things as badly as the business men and the politicians, have done. We need the university professors, as we need the business men and the politicians, but we need them working together; alone, they are not to be trusted."

"Our national, political, business university thinking is confused. No one tries to think of the situation as a whole, but each of a specialized program, without effort at correlation or consistency."

Wave of Internationalism.
"There is now a wave of internationalism over the country. It has not yet swept over the masses, but it has affected the intelligent class greatly. It is based on post-war idealism, and it calls for community of interest internationally ahead. It is thinking in terms of the period immediately after the war, though 15 years have proved conclusively that international co-operation in any such degree as would have significance is beyond human capacity."

"Yet this sort of thinking has been revised, and it now calls for reduction of trade barriers as a solution of our problem. Lower the tariffs, cancel the debts—all kinds of idealistic international remedies. In practically every point except the treatment of debts, the theses of current internationalism are inconsistent with our home problems. By removing trade barriers we might get back 5 per cent of the foreign trade we lost; but we would incite Great Britain and Germany to a bitter trade competition with us, and we would make sure that we would not regain the 55 per cent of our total production which has been lost at home.

"The remedies to solve our home problems are inconsistent with the remedies which might help England and Germany. If we were to remove barriers until we were so internationalized that we all did each other's weekly washing on improved modern washing machines, we would only be intensifying our own unemployment problem. We would be increasing our unemployed by hundreds of thousands, perhaps by millions of men, and we would be further destroying the purchasing power of Americans."

"These domestic alternatives have not been thought through in the press, or in the thinking of our professors."

"International idealism not only threatens to obscure our national interests, but threatens us with the danger of another world war. The last world war resulted from the discovery by England and Germany that there was not room for both of them in the international trade situation. But the current internationalism proposes a bitter competition among three nations, which each would believe that it must win in order to survive. Such things bring the emotional responses which create war."

Says Interdependence Declines.
"We need to reappraise international idealism in view of reduced interdependence. It is not true that the world is becoming more interdependent; it is becoming less so, with almost inconceivable rapidity."

"These trade barriers are the result of the effort to preserve stability in the face of collapse, from such causes as overproduction of raw materials. Everything intended to meet the international situation is bad for the domestic situation, and as bad for England and Germany as for us. An Englishman said to me recently, 'The best thing you can do for Europe is to straighten yourselves out. We can do more for England and Germany by keeping out of a bitter do. The only means of approach is to take important social groups, see the conditions surrounding each, and work out the conditions of each group.'"

"Lost Chance" with Germany.
"We lost our chance to follow the road to internationalism, when we failed to help Germany lick the world, and then to help her run it. She would have done a distinguished job, compared with the nations which are now weakly attempting the task at Geneva."

"Our home problem is one of maintaining a moving equilibrium, as ship dealers must do. The only means of approach is to take important social groups, see the conditions surrounding each, and work out the conditions of each group."

"We cannot have prosperity with 40,000,000 farmers, or persons dependent on farming, flat on their backs."

PRIVATELY-OWNED TRANSIT SYSTEM FAVORED BY NEUN

Republican in Mayoralty Race Urges Nonpartisan Commission to Plan Transportation Needs.

President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, a candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor, announced today he advocated co-ordination of bus and trolley service. He favors private ownership of transportation facilities, but would accept municipal ownership as a last resort, if adequate service could not be obtained otherwise.

He urges establishment of a non-partisan transportation commission, under a State law enacted in 1929, to devise a complete transportation plan for immediate and future needs.

The statement constitutes a plank of Neun's platform, which he is issuing serially. In it he says: "The transportation situation is probably the most complex problem now confronting the city. Definite action and leadership to bring about a practicable solution is essential. My stand upon many important policies relating to a solution is already known. I have vigorously opposed the granting of a 'long-term' franchise to the Public Service Co. I am opposed to the city purchasing the street railway system."

Advantages of Buses.
Neun says buses are more flexible than street cars for handling transit, and bus lines can be extended and rerouted without great expense. Buses also have the advantage from the safety standpoint, he adds. Neun does not think it is practical to eliminate street cars altogether, as he feels some parts of the trolley system must be retained to carry peak loads of traffic.

He thinks such car lines as the Olive, Grand, Broadway and those on Washington avenue will fit into the future transportation scheme, but some others should be removed from the streets, together with their "unsightly" wires. He would have them replaced by buses, without duplication of service.

St. Louis will not be ready for subways, at least for a few years, Neun believes, but he advocates a thorough survey to determine what parts of the street car lines would be necessary in the future system, he says. He adds: "The commission would determine the type of service justified by the traffic in various sections of the city, and would work out a specific plan for bus routes co-ordinating with whatever street car lines might be retained, so that all sections would be properly served. After the future transportation system plan has been completed by this commission, an effort should be made to have the Public Service Co., the People's Motorbus Co. and other existing transportation agencies conform to this plan and co-ordinate their services."

What Commission Should Do.
"The commission should take steps to enforce acceptance of transfers between the Public Service and the People's Motorbus."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference to its cardinal principles: that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privilege and class, and public plunder, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong; whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

An Explanation of the Housing Bill.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

HERE is a bill before the Missouri State Senate which authorizes cities of 300,000 or more population to enact legislation providing for a Housing Commission. The Housing Commission need not be a new body, causing additional expense to taxpayers. The present City Planning Commission will suffice.

A Housing Commission permits the starting of a housing project as an experiment. The effects can be carefully observed. It will help toward giving employment to the unemployed. There will be no tax exemption.

The reason for such legislation is to provide for the organization of housing corporations with power to construct, maintain and operate housing projects under the terms of the act when authorized by and subject to the control of the Municipal Housing Commission when created.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has money to lend to St. Louis to be used to remove and rehabilitate existing slum areas. It is needless to tell you that these areas are a menace to the health, safety, morals and general welfare of our St. Louis people.

To get a loan from the R. F. C., we must have a Housing Commission here in St. Louis, and that is what the act provides.

Senate housing bill No. 163 is a worthy piece of legislation. It should be enacted immediately. There is a time limit on the applications for R. F. C. loans, and it isn't so far off.

H. C. MESCH.

A Farmer Opposes Margarine Tax.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

NOTICE your opposition to the proposed 10-cent-per-pound tax on nut margarine, now before our State Legislature. As a farmer, whose financial condition is similar to that of millions of other farmers (and no one knows better than I how badly their resources are depleted), it is probable that I would profit by this proposed enactment. Yet, when I consider that this profit must come mainly from a class of people whose resources are as badly depleted as mine, if not worse, I must agree with your opposition. I could not conscientiously profit at the expense of the poor man. This sounds like gross sentimentalism. But I can be hard-bitten on occasion.

Let us not do these things. Let us not tax one class of individuals for the profit of another class, when both classes are in depleted circumstances. It is no nonsense to switch purchasing power en masse. It is a waste of time and trouble which ought better be extended in other ways, and can never get us out of the depression.

ARTHUR JOSSON.

Suggestions for St. Louis.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THESE are some suggestions for bringing factories and more work and business to St. Louis:

Have new wholesale houses and factories locate from Broadway east to the river, and from about 3800 north to 3800 south. Don't allow any more factories to locate in residential neighborhoods, almost strangling home owners with smoke.

Raise Broadway between Clark and Park, and the cross streets from Seventh street east; tunnel Poplar street for railroads; make the Free Bridge two miles wide to the east side of river, and add north or south approach; put Free Bridge entrance on Broadway; get rid of the trestle, which has ruined the value of property from Third to Seventh street.

As an inducement for locating here, grant permission to all concerns locating east of Broadway to lay switches free of charge, and do not charge them water license or taxes for about two years. Put a deck over the levee and make that river front driveway which has been talked about for years; have the city buy the street car system at its real value, put two men on a car, and charge 5 cents a ride. This will save building a subway. This could be done with a bond issue. Instead of the city feeding men for nothing, put them to work to wreck some of the buildings that are almost caving in. And just think what could be done with the Mississippi River! Use ferry boats for shipping and transportation, and then get after the Congressmen and Senators to pass a bill to make the river deep enough to allow ocean steamers to come to St. Louis.

This, of course, will all take time. First of all, however, everything should be done to get new concerns to locate here. I believe that in about 10 years or less we could have one of the best business cities in the country.

FRED HERNDON.

Who's a Coward?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A L. SMITH is a hallyhood as a great and courageous hero because he cut the throat of his party's dry plank, but now any dry legislator who refuses to stay hog-tied to the wet trough is branded a traitorous coward. Think it over.

BACK TO TEMPERANCE.

In adopting the Blaine resolution for modified repeal of the eighteenth amendment, Congress did yesterday what it could have done better in December, when it defeated the Garner resolution for outright repeal.

It has lost two and a half precious months, and it has left a piece of legislation in what was designed to be merely the framework of government.

What a constitution should do has been well said by Justice Cardozo of the United States Supreme Court: "A constitution states, or ought to state, not rules for the passing hour, but principles for an expanding future. In so far as it deviates from that standard, and descends into details and particulars, it loses its flexibility, the scope of interpretation contracts, the meaning hardens."

The substitute which the Blaine resolution would provide for the eighteenth amendment is exactly such a rule for the passing hour, and it is a meaningless rule at that. It asserts in substance that the Federal Government will exclude liquor from dry states, but it does not give Congress any authority to do so that Congress does not already possess. The best that can be said for it is that it is a political concession to dry sentiment, a modus operandi framed to meet the exigencies of a situation. Yet it is this hollow gesture, which is as insincere at bottom as was the original eighteenth amendment, that the states are to vote upon. What the consequences will be there is no means of foreseeing. That it is dangerous so to make legislative pledges in the Constitution is certain. We shall be fortunate if such sophistry does not some time rise to plague us.

Nevertheless, the thing is before the people. We must accept it as the only way out of one of the most terrible plights into which any country was ever led by a counsel of perfection. There can be no perfection. The eighteenth amendment proved it, and the substitute for the amendment proves it again. We could not purify society of liquor, nor can we purify the Constitution of our misguided effort to do so.

So be it. Thirty-six states must ratify the new amendment. They must do so within seven years. Enough Legislatures to call conventions to ratify the amendment are in session now. Almost every one of them is apparently eager to do so. Many of them want to lead the way. One of them, Wyoming, has already passed a bill calling a convention, and her Governor has signed it. Unless we are mistaken, ratification will proceed with great tumult and shouting, a sublimated six-day bicycle race.

There is no reason why repeal should not be accomplished within the current year. The need for the millions which have been pouring into the pockets of the underworld is acute in every treasury, from that of the Federal Government down to the least village. It is not entirely to our credit that it was in the economic collapse that national prohibition met its Waterloo. It should long ago have been swept from the political arena as an undue invasion of the lives of the people, and a demoralizing agent in society and government. We destroy a political ideal when we load it down with the moralities. All peoples have learned this, as we were to learn it.

There is a political sphere with which the moralities have nothing to do. We cannot make men good by law. They must be actuated by the urge from within. Virtue, as it has been truly said, is its own reward. Temperance is a virtue, and temperance is its own reward. In our opinion, the best thing that has been said of national prohibition in the United States was the wise observation of Glenn Frank. He said: "In trying to reform the village drunkard, we made the drunken village."

What a lesson it has been! What a problem we have before us! We must go back in all the states to the point where we lost our way. The liquor problem is as old as human history. It will never be solved. Liquor is one of those temptations without which character cannot be made. There are thousands of such tests. We can no more eliminate them from life than we can leap into the world full armed against its every peril. It will take years for temperance to recapture in the states the ground it had gained when the nation was seized by the delusion that there was a golden specific for this social evil in turning the whole dreadful problem over to Uncle Sam.

We know better now. A disillusioned and chastened people, we face the future in perplexity and doubt. Are we capable now of a wisdom we did not possess 13 years ago? Nobody knows. The plans for the states under the new system are many. Michigan has already gone in for the State dispensary.

Only tomorrow can tell. Meanwhile, the social and political shock of so reversing a great ration will demand every grain of wisdom the American people possess.

Prime Minister MacDonald is prepared to discuss every question relating in any way to economic recovery at the Anglo-American debt negotiations, which makes it pretty clear that No-Swapper Chamberlain spoke out of turn.

THROWN OUT OF COURT.

Federal Judge Davis has thrown out of court a suit in an opinion which will, we imagine, evoke loud and prolonged applause.

The affair is the latest chapter in the looting of the Grand National Bank, the litigants being the Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, a bonding company, and the Grand National Bank. The bonding company had demanded a refund of $77,944 from the $125,000 it had paid the bank on the original loss of the bonds and cash. The bank was willing to refund $14,370, but it preferred a counter-claim against the bonding company which, it insisted, was liable for a part of the $140,000 reward which the bank had paid for the return of the bonds.

How the return of the bonds was effected is one of the classic mystery stories. The resident manager of the local branch of the Maryland Fidelity Co. conducted the negotiations with an attorney, now deceased. It was all done secretly. The price for the stolen property was agreed on and the bank paid it. The first inkling the police had of the transaction was when they were called in to assist in safe transfer of the bonds to the Grand National bank. That may have been "good theater." It certainly was a dramatic device for releasing the news that the loot had been recovered. It held the city spellbound for a minute.

But, in the opinion of Judge Davis, the bonding company and the bank "consummated a transaction that cannot be justified under the law." Approval of such dealings, he declared, would "render society helpless before the criminal class," and the courts "should decline to supervise distribution among wrong-doers of spoils derived from unlawful conduct." In a blistering analysis, Judge Davis concluded an "agreement to conceal or keep secret a crime which has been committed is opposed to public policy and offensive to law." Thus he washed his hands of it.

TAKING THE COUNTY HOSPITAL OUT OF POLITICS.

There are indications that the Legislature will remove control of the St. Louis County Hospital to a bi-partisan board. A bill to that effect has been approved by the Public Health Committee of the House. If such a measure becomes law, the Democratic members of the new County Court will have their own tactics to thank. Their action early this month, in discharging the hospital superintendent and several other workers, disturbed the workings of the institution, led to a conflict of authority and drew criticism from physicians to the effect that the hospital was being made a "football of politics." Several employees of specialized skill were displaced by successors whose only qualifications consisted of being deserving Democrats and out of work.

The original House bill provided for a bi-partisan board of four, to be elected by the voters. The committee substitute, in our opinion, considerably impairs the force of the measure. It provides for appointment of a bi-partisan board by the County Court. This would be only a slight improvement over the present system, for the majority of the court would dictate the appointments. Thus it would be possible for the court majority to name competent persons of its own political faith, and incompetents to represent the other party. Gov. Park's recent appointments to the Prison Board and the St. Louis Election Board indicate how the letter of bi-partisan requirements may be maintained and their spirit violated. An alternative plan to election by the voters would be for the County Court to choose the board members from a list of qualified persons, of both parties, submitted by the county medical society.

Whatever plan is adopted, there should be no loopholes left whereby public health may be mixed with politics. Control of the hospital should be more than bi-partisan—it should be non-partisan. The actions of the present court's majority have been typically those of a raid on the public payroll, with the common welfare running second to the interests of partisan politics. The exhibition has demonstrated the current court's inability to handle the hospital's affairs judiciously, and makes it imperative to take the institution out of politics.

A KANSAS AT 65.

William Allen White soliloquized loud and long in the papers. He is 65 years old and on royal terms with himself. He tosses violets at the past, thumbs his nose at the future, thinks life is good, knows that he is good, and squares away at Fate, asking no favors of that fickle jade. In the game as he has played it, he has taken most of the tricks, modestly ascribing that happy circumstance to luck, but chortling over the comforting fact that those tricks are counted—"quitted" is the current term, we believe—and "in the bag" for keeps.

What pleases most this reputed citizen and sage of Emporia is his constancy to Kansas. Save for a brief errand in Kansas City, Mo., he has there lived his span, there told his tales, there sung his songs, right there in Emporia. And Kansasans reading those flattering words will, of course, be filled with joyous pride and will bring their tithes of appreciation to this loyal son. For they know, even though Mr. White never mentions it, that the great world has beckoned him time and again and tried to entice him away from his native heath with "mint and anise and cummin" and silver and gold, and got only a lusty ha! from this Rabelaisian Puritan.

The hour has struck, it seems to us, when this Kansas constancy of William Allen White should be exposed. The simple truth is that Emporia is merely Mr. White's voting residence and Kansas a sort of incorrigible stepchild, often to be spanked, now and then to be given an ice cream cone. Since he fired that editorial shot heard round the American political world in 1896, Mr. White has been in Kansas only on occasions of pith and moment. He can and does speak the language of his prairie country when it so behooves him, but he knows Broadway as a habitue, he pops up in Chicago today, in Agua Caliente tomorrow, has whipped all the trout streams of Colorado, divides the attention of Hollywood boulevard with a Barrymore profile, has worn knee breeches in the court of St. James, has summered and wintered in the capitals of Europe, is as much at home in a drawing room as in the highest council of the Republican party; in a word, a cosmopolite.

Long may he reign.

TIRE BIDS, TOO.

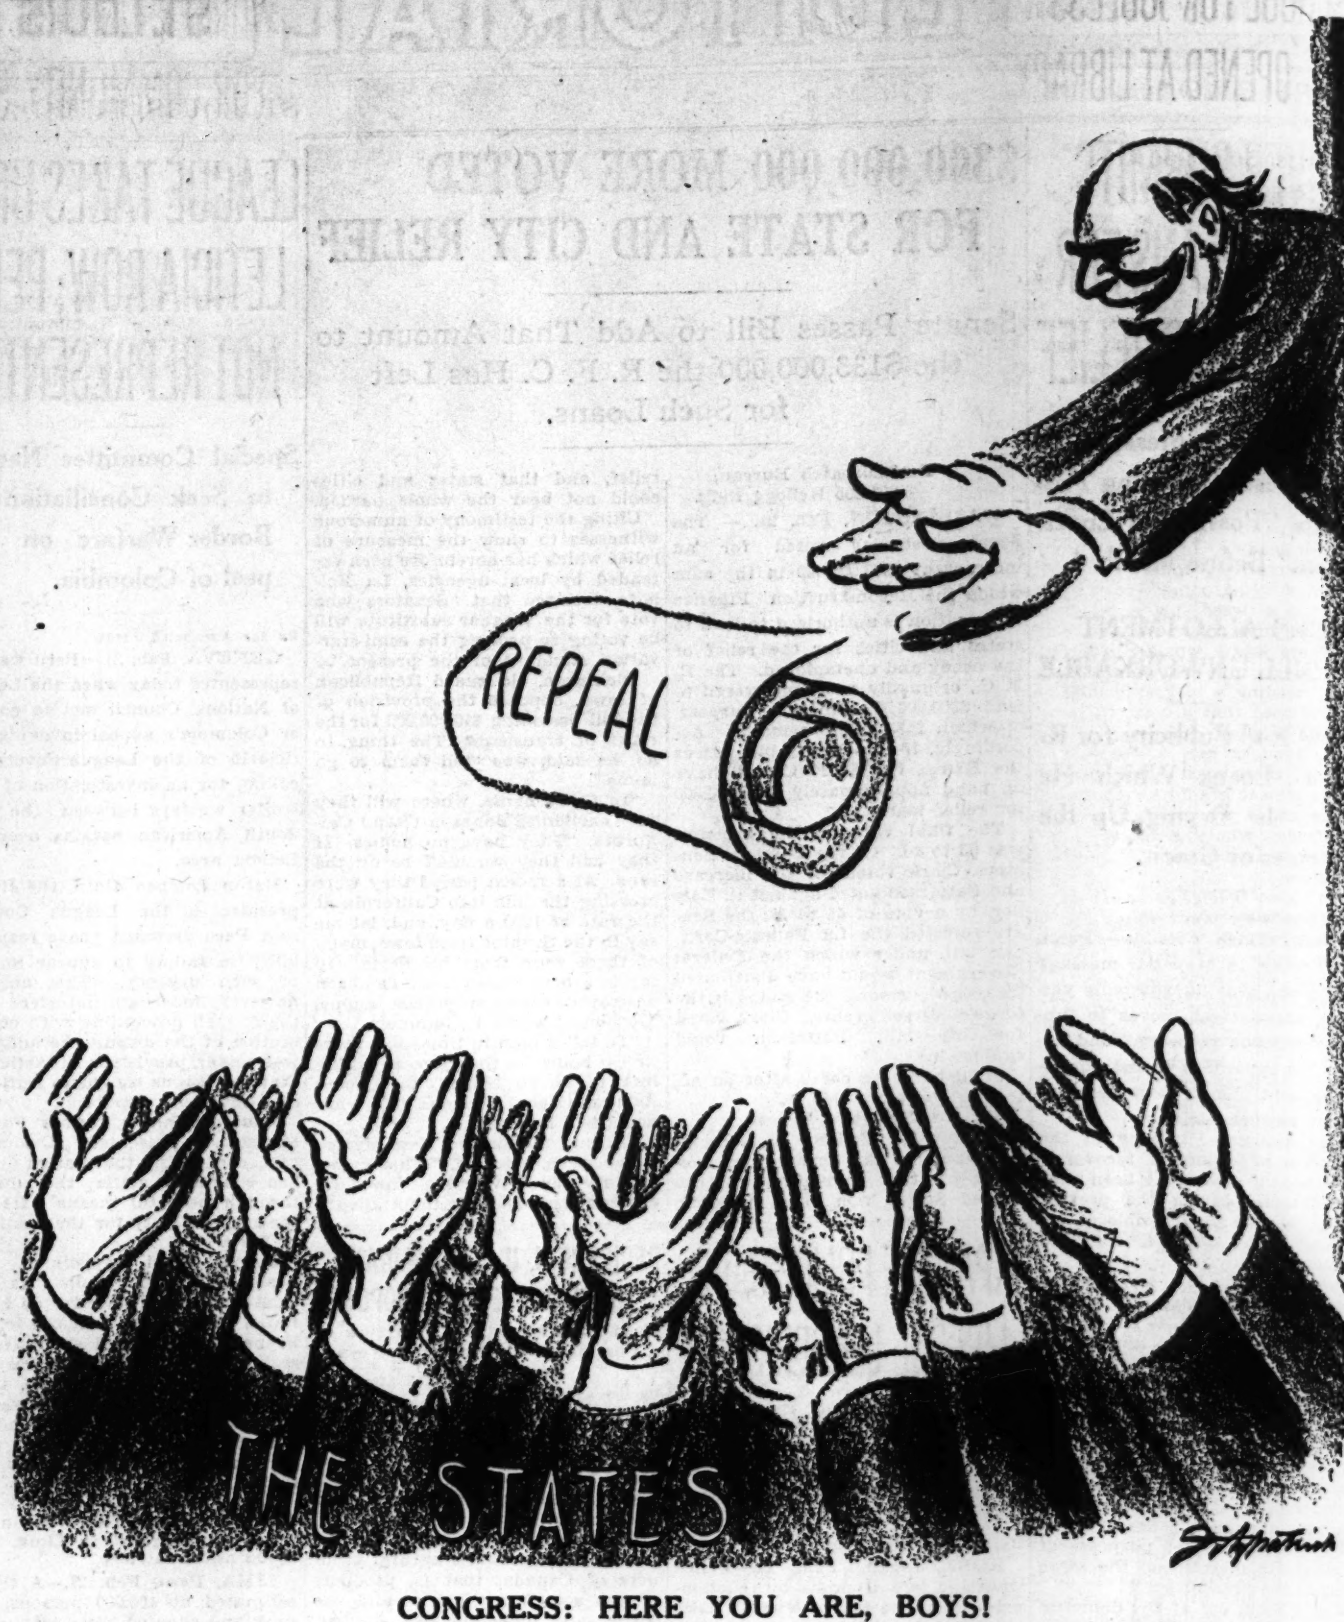

The cement companies, it seems, were not the only ones to submit identical bids to the State Highway Commission. The tire people did the same thing, at the expiration of the 1929-30 contract, according to J. A. Anderson, engineer of equipment, testifying before the investigating committee. Whether other dealers adopted the practice, making it, so to speak, "an old Missouri custom," is not yet known.

Anyhow, it is a bad practice. Its disclosure, moreover, should not have been left to a legislative inquiry. The Highway Commission should have informed the people. If the identical bids were not the result of collusion, but of standardized production costs, as is claimed in the case of cement, the publicity could not have hurt the cement people and would have put the commission in right with the public. As it is, the concealment of the fact makes official investigation obligatory.

The Highway Department, Mr. Anderson says, uses approximately $90,000 worth of tires a year. That is a pretty nice piece of business. It is worth competing for. But there is no competition in identical bids—not in the ordinary meaning of the term. "I have no way of knowing," Mr. Anderson is quoted, "but I believe the tire companies have their heads together and make the same bids." The people of Missouri share that belief, and they may find "a way of knowing." Until then, judgment may be deferred.

It may be observed, however, that the purchasing agent for a private concern who accepted, or rejected, identical bids without advising his principal of the circumstances would be in an embarrassing position. That is the position the Highway Commission is in.

We believe the loan sharks are telling the truth when they say they can make more money at 42 per cent than they can at 30 per cent.

CONGRESS: HERE YOU ARE, BOYS!

TODAY and TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

The Public Morale

DURING this past week, the country has had a sharp reminder of what it can do for the common interest. For the common interest is that the sound structures should be preserved and the unsound ones rebuilt or removed. The process is painful, but not so painful as letting the sound become weakened by the discredit of the unsound ones.

A policy of discrimination has not yet been adopted, because the present administration has been reluctant to adopt it, and because it has lacked the necessary political authority. With an election impending, with Congress out of hand, with partisanship at the fever point, the policy actually followed has been to patch and postpone. It may be that nothing better was possible under the conditions prevailing during the last 18 months. But it cannot continue. The time has come for a new deal in which decisive discrimination will have to be made between capital structures and debts that should be supported and those which must quickly be revised.

To carry out such a policy, the incoming administration will need definite ideas and political authority. If the ideas are fundamentally sound, that is to say, if they follow the principle that present investments should be resolutely protected and imprudent ones resolutely written down, it is of no great consequence whether the machinery and the schemes adopted are entirely acceptable to everyone. There is not time for exhaustive inquiry and debate in order to perfect a program. If it is based on correct principle, a program which is acceptable to a reasonable number of disinterested and expert men will serve the purpose.

Next to a sound basic principle and competent administration, the most important thing is that the program be enacted promptly and executed with determination. It is essential here, as on so many other matters that are closely related to it in the process of recovery, that the power of the President should be so greatly reinforced that his authority to carry out the program will not be doubted anywhere. In substance, this means the disciplining of Congress by closure and caucus and the enlargement of the President's powers by emergency legislation.

When there are signs of demoralization in an army, the point at which the restoration of order has to begin is in the high command. So it is with nations in time of crisis. There is no use sending orators to the street corners until the people know that at the center of things there is steady and clear authority. Courage is as infectious as fear; determination is as infectious as panic.

There is no reason on earth to doubt the nerve of the American people, or their capacity to look trouble in the eye and take what they must take with good sense. They have been through many worse times than these. All that they require, and this they must have, is the assurance that their sacrifices have some purpose, that their affairs are directed by men who have no interest but the public welfare, who know what they are doing, have authority to do it and will not be deterred.

What is needed is to set up promptly an adequate machinery of readjustment, reorganization and liquidation, and to put this machinery in motion by clear decisions from the central authorities as to what types of the economic structure are worth maintaining and what types must be revised. Such a policy of separating the sheep from the goats would no doubt involve injustices and errors in detail. But incidental sacrifices are necessary in the common interest. For the common interest is that the sound structures should be preserved and the unsound ones rebuilt or removed. The process is painful, but not so painful as letting the sound become weakened by the discredit of the unsound ones.

Short-Sighted and Illegal

From the Kansas City Journal-Post.

THE story of the folly of most tariff barriers, as well as all moves for national self-containment, both in the United States and other countries, is to be found in bills pending in the Missouri and Kansas Legislatures designed to bar the use of coconut oil in the manufacture of margarine as a substitute for butter. The bills would impose a prohibitive tax on coconut margarine, on the theory that this would stimulate the use of animal fats in place of coconut oil. They are sponsored chiefly by the dairy interests and the livestock industry—in short, by the farmers.

Coconut oil is imported from the Philippines, which in turn imports from this country condensed milk that amounts to more in dollars and cents than the coconut oil used in margarine. When this is understood, the short-sightedness of the move to bar the Philippines product becomes apparent at once, for the very persons the bills are supposedly intended to help would suffer most by killing the bills, but will be acting for the benefit of the individual states, and this is what these bills attempt to do by subterfuge.

The Legislatures of Missouri and Kansas will not only be doing the consumers a favor by killing the bills, but will be acting for the best interests of the sponsors as well.

ROOSEVELT'S LIBERALISM.

From the Nation.

FOUR years ago, it was Herbert Hoover who was to perform miracles. Today it is Franklin D. Roosevelt. The feeling may not be prevalent throughout the country, but in official and journalistic circles in Washington it is running very strong. There are already rumors of an economic rehabilitation program on a titanic scale, involving billions of dollars, of which the ambitious Muscle Shoals program recently announced is but a single detail.

It must be said for Mr. Roosevelt that he is making no extravagant claims. Nevertheless, these reports have upset many conservative commentators, who also are looking with suspicion upon the fact that the President-elect has of late been associating with such progressives as Senators Norris, La Follette, Cutting and Hull, and with such radicals as Senator Borah, Newton D. Baker, Gov. Ritchie and former Gov. Ryd.

That the Roosevelt administration, at least to begin with, will be unashamedly radical—in so far as the Senate Liberalism may thus be termed—is now apparent. There is evidence, too, that the 124 new Democratic members of the House will as a group be found standing even farther to the left than the new President. Some of these members-elect have already visited Washington and made known their views, which sound as if they might have been lifted in part from the Socialist party platform.

We have not forgotten that as a miracle worker, Mr. Hoover proved a complete failure, and it must also be remembered that Mr. Roosevelt will be under constant pressure from the conservative elements within his party to modify his views. But at the moment, the outlook in Washington is the most encouraging since March, 1933.

SCHOOL FOR JOBLESS OPENED AT LIBRARY

Between 50 and 60 Attend First Session in Creative Reading Course.

Between 50 and 60 unemployed St. Louisans, feeling that their idle time should be put to good use, attended yesterday in the assembly room of Central Library for the first course in a series of free classes arranged by the newly organized Association for Leisure Classes for Unemployed Adults.

It was the class in creative reading—the only "non-practical" course on the list—and the group was as varied as the list of books suggested for reading. It was undoubtedly representative, running the scale from a well-groomed, middle-aged man in a tweed suit to the broken laborer in a collarless shirt.

There was a woman in a black and white fur coat and a Jewish girl, reading a biography of Lenin, who hoped that a class in Russian would be given; there was a mother who brought her 10-year-old son along; there was a man who had only gone to grammar school in Poland and a woman former college instructor who was immediately enrolled as an assistant for one of the courses.

Two College Graduates.

There were many young men and elderly women whose earning days are almost over. Of the 50 who signed registration cards 27 had been graduated from high school and several others had attended high school for varying lengths of time. Two had graduated from a major college, others had attended or taken extension courses. There were two Negroes and a former evangelist.

A list of possible books for reading, given by the instructor, Mrs. A. J. Kreuger, included Lewis' "Elmer Gantry," Wescott's "The Grandmother," Ludwig's "Napoleon," Benet's "John Brown's Body," O'Neill's "Strange Interlude," Adams' "Epic of America," Benchley's "Twenty Thousand Years Under the Sea" or David Copperfield; Poe's "The Raven," Hemingway's "Farewell to Arms," and La Farge's "Laughing Boy."

Biography Preferred. When a show of hands was called for on which type of book would be most desired, biography led the list by far. There was little enthusiasm over current fiction and when a man suggested books of modern discourse like Stuart Chase's "New Deal," there was no response.

There was great approval when drama was suggested and general agreement that at least one of Shakespeare's plays should be discussed. But what play? A girl suggested "Romeo and Juliet," a man "The Taming of the Shrew" and there the question was dropped. At 12 o'clock the class was adjourned until next Monday when the first reading report will be given. Meanwhile classes in other subjects will be given every morning except Saturday.

WORKERS INSTRUCTED FOR COMMUNITY FUND

Solicitors Who Will Canvass Downtown District in $600,000 Drive Get Orders.

Workers in the downtown district of the $600,000 Community Fund campaign for 20 character building agencies met last night at Hotel Statler to receive final instructions. The drive will be opened formally Thursday night at a meeting at Hotel Chase.

E. G. Steger, director of the fund, said the character building agencies, despite decreased budgets, have greatly increased their activities to meet the unemployment emergency. “No community,” he said, “has taken stock of its entire relief and social problem as thoroughly as St. Louis, and no city has made such well planned efforts to meet the need. This care and planning is the result of civic leadership of the highest character.”

In a radio talk yesterday H. D. McBride said the $600,000 sought represents the cost of crime and delinquency prevention in St. Louis during the coming year. If the campaign fails, he said, the cost will be much greater.

“Leaders in St. Louis business and religious circles realize that unless we are alert to present needs there will be a heavy bill to pay in delinquency, crime and social disorders,” McBride said.

“Our concern is, and properly should be, a selfish one. The problem and the solution go far beyond these thousands of unemployed and their families. They affect, in a very definite and serious way, the welfare and future of us all and the prosperity of the city as a whole.”

LONDON, Feb. 21.—John Ramsay Allardyce Nicoll, professor of English language and literature in East London College, University of London, who has been selected by Yale University as the executive head of the drama department on the retirement of Prof. George P. Baker, plans to sail for the United States in September.

Prof. Nicoll is 38 years old. His greatest interest is the history of drama, in which he will conduct courses at Yale.

“Although it will be a big wrench to leave this college and all my associations here, I am looking forward to what promises to be an intensely interesting job,” Prof. Nicoll said.

“In America the drama has a very important place in the life of the people, as the existence of a special department in a great university indicates. I think such specialization is excellent.”

1806 RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT ST. VINCENT DE PAUL COUNCIL

New Head of Police Board Has Been in Charge of Charity Work 13 Years.

William L. Igoo, recently named president of the Board of Police Commissioners, has resigned as president of the St. Louis Metropolitan Council of St. Vincent de Paul Society, an office he held for more than 13 years.

The council has supervision over the work of the society in Missouri and Kansas. Igoo resigned also as head of the society in St. Louis. His successor will be chosen March 20.

In his letter of resignation, received yesterday by the directors, he explained that the pressure of other duties would not permit him to continue the work. During his first year as president of the organization its conferences in St. Louis and the county spent $41,597 in relief work. For the last fiscal year, ended Sept. 30, their expenditures totaled $44,377. Igoo served one term, in 1930-31, as president of the National Conference of Catholic Charities.

REGINALD VANDERBILT WIDOW HAS ONLY $1400 A YEAR

Disallowed Made When Her Child 9, Is Permitted to Spend $4000 Monthly.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The annual income of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, widow of Reginald Vanderbilt, does not exceed $1400. It was disclosed yesterday in Surrogate's Court when her 9-year-old daughter, Gloria Laura, was legally permitted to spend $4000 monthly for “support, maintenance and education.”

George W. Wickersham, the child's guardian, in his petition to continue the allowance granted by Surrogate James A. Foley, said Mrs. Vanderbilt would be unable to contribute to her daughter's support because her income was not more than $1400 a year. Wickersham also said the child's income from bonds and cash amounting to $2,830,276 would not be less than last year, when it was $116,637.

FRANCIS A. DREW FUNERAL

Services for Francis A. Drew, investment broker, killed by an automobile Sunday, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow from the St. Louis Cathedral, Lindell boulevard and Newstead avenue. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Drew was hit by an automobile driven by Clarence Hamm, Post-Dispatch photographer, in Lindell boulevard, near Grand boulevard, while on his way to early mass at St. Francis Xavier Church. He was 27 years old, residing at 8539 Waterman avenue with his wife and 2-year-old daughter. An inquest will be held Thursday.

Her Foresight Will Increase Her Own Security and Her Daughter's Inheritance

At his wife's request Mr. D. recently changed his will. His old will left his entire estate outright to his wife. His new will leaves it in trust for her.

This simple change will result in the following important savings for her and for their daughter. First: For ten years following his death it will reduce her income taxes approximately $775 per year.

Second: Upon her death the estate will not have to go through probate and as a result administration fees of approximately $5000 will be saved.

Third: Upon her death no estate and inheritance taxes will be due and this saving will amount to approximately $14,700.

(These savings are based upon existing tax laws and upon the present value of Mr. D's estate, which is worth $200,000 exclusive of life insurance.)

Adoption of this plan will not only effect these savings but will likewise relieve Mrs. D of the heavy responsibility and considerable work of making investments for the estate. Yet, since her husband's new will gives her the right to withdraw any part or all of the principal at any time she will have full and complete control of the estate.

She has sacrificed nothing and by her foresight has increased her prospective income and has added substantially to her daughter's inheritance. Trust company service instead of costing her money will save her money.

Federal Estate Taxes often 1000% higher under the Revenue Act of 1932 than previously suggest this question: "Can you afford to have your estate twice taxed?"

creasing prices; it would affect all farm products; give equal benefits to all farmers; is free of increased bureaucracy; very much less costly; and could be covered by a manufacturers' excise tax of probably 1 percent to 2 percent upon these commodities. It would also largely eliminate the tax and interest problems which the Congress is seeking to solve at much greater cost.

"I earnestly recommend repeal of the procedure of the House of Representatives in publishing loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. These transactions should be open to the fullest degree to the Representatives of the Congress, but their publication in the last few months has led to widespread, mostly innocent misinterpretation, vicious in effect, by depositors and alarmists who do not recognize that such borrowings represent an endeavor of the institution to provide funds needed in service to their respective communities. This publication is destroying the usefulness and effectiveness of the Reconstruction Corporation, is exaggerating fears and is introducing new elements of grave danger. It is drying up the very sources of credit. The effect of such publication is forcing payment by distressed debtors to replenish bank funds. It is causing the hoarding of currency.

"7. While the Congress could not enact such a law during this session, I recommend that it should institute an inquiry with view to the early expansion of the home loan discount system to a general mortgage discount system to be owned co-operatively by banks and mortgage companies (with adequate encouragement of the special activities of building and loan associations) and thus to parallel in the field of long-term credit the service of the Federal Reserve System for short-time credit. Such a system would relieve the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of many of its functions, would assist in the orderly readjustment of the present situation, and through private initiative would serve many purposes for which the Congress is striving through direct action by the Government.

"8. Peace would be promoted and the killing of men checked in various parts of the world today, if the executive had the authority to join with other nations in preventing the shipment of arms to such localities. I earnestly recommend that the legislation proposed for this purpose be enacted."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH DEAN DONHAM SAYS INTERNATIONALISM IS NOT DEPRESSION CURE

backs and earning less than their interest and tax requirements. The relationship between debts and taxes must be worked out, and can be worked out if the necessary plans can be carried out with the necessary authority.

"But we hear men say, 'Oh, it's those damned farmers in Washington again.' Those farmers are 40 percent of our people, and there can be no national stability if they are reduced to penury, or are driven to revolution to avoid penury.

"The next major objective of the men responsible for the future of our country should be to create a labor shortage. This can be done in 12 months, or let us say 18 months at the outside.

Recalls Prophecy.
"The nation can't continue with 34,000,000 unemployed and 40,000,000 destitute farmers, or 76,000,000 of our 125,000,000 dependent. I said two years ago it would be work or the dole. We didn't get work, and we have the dole in its most disgusting form. We must take care of the unemployed, but the real objective must be to put them back to work. If our nation can't do that, it is not entitled to continue in its present form.

"The checks and balances of 150 years ago, devised to prevent change, can no longer serve. More power to the movement to concentrate authority in the President of the United States, to plan and execute. It is our one chance for anything like quick recovery.

"The appreciation in the value of gold has brought us close to national bankruptcy. Until we can increase prices or decrease debts and taxes, we are forcing further liquidation, a destructive process.

"Conservatives must get behind movements for careful, sane planning, to increase prices, or to cancel existing debts. The conservatives have made a fetish of the gold standard ever since 1896, and have believed that the victory over Bryan and free silver in that year was a triumph of common sense.

"If we think in terms of preserving the gold standard, instead of stabilizing the nation, we will find that creditors are not going to be allowed to seize the property of the country.

For Concentration of Power.

"I believe the depression could be cured in about a year by intelligent action. There must be rigid concentration of power and carrying out of plans. We have tried for three years to muddle through on the theory that this was just another condition such as had arisen before. I am convinced, from the closest study, that this depression is a new thing, and will not respond to old treatment. It needs thinking out in terms of national needs and national control.

"Australia has concentrated power, has built up an advisory group, men of affairs, university people, politicians. It has determined on a plan, and in eight months has advanced from a worse depression than our own into a state of improvement and increasing prosperity. It has worked out and put into effect policies, some of which are those of a century or half a century ago, but they have worked.

Responding to a request after the close of his address, Dean Donham told more about Australia.

How Australia Met Crisis.
"It is a country of three large export products," he said, "wheat, frozen meat and wool. When prices of these products were depressed by world-wide over-production, Australia had a large foreign debt. It could have turned up its contracts and repudiated its debts, but it preferred to tighten the belt and maintain payments.

"First, Australia maintained its currency, not only to the level of the British pound sterling, but to a level of $2.50 or $2.50 (sterling is $3.44). The high tariff and depreciated currency stopped imports, or greatly curtailed them, and the depreciated currency enabled them to compete with their exports in international markets. This furnished a balance to carry the interest on the foreign debt.

"By agreement, about 22 per cent of the interest on the internal national debt was canceled, and the rest was readjusted. Price levels rose, except for imported products, to a point near the old levels. This made profits possible, and started up business. So they are paying the interest on their national debts, and are getting along without American automobiles.

Favors Expansion of Prices.
"Do you believe in inflation?" Dean Donham was asked.

"I believe in expansion of prices," he replied. "That might or might not be accomplished by printing more money. We must have a considered method of reducing prices as well as public debts. Don't fool yourself, it will come. I would rather see prices go up than debts go down, but one of the two must happen.

"We can't stand the present relation between prices and debts—debts fixed, prices fluid and declining, and no one paying attention to the building up of purchasing power.

You'll do it better on DATED coffee

Science says coffee is a wonderful stimulant. Drink it to sharpen your wits as well as to pep up your muscles. But never drink stale coffee.

IT'S the hard-hitting, fast-moving, peppy people who drink most coffee. They lead in outdoor sports, play a clever game of bridge, seem to excel in everything they do.

And they frankly use coffee as a stimulant... to keep up their energy... to drive away fatigue.

Why can't we all get the same benefit from coffee?

Some of us actually don't dare take more than one cup! Afraid it won't agree with us... spoil our dinner... prevent us from sleeping soundly. Why? Are we different in some way?

No, those are exceptional cases, says science. Coffee is now known to be a perfectly safe stimulant so long as it is fresh. And if you are a normal, healthy grown-up, you can drink as many as 5 cups a day of fresh coffee, without bad effects.

But stale coffee contains rancid oil. Nearly half a cup to a pound. When you drink stale coffee, you can easily get indigestion or "nerves" or sleeplessness.

No wonder Chase & Sanborn instituted Dated Coffee. You buy Dated Coffee with the date of delivery to your grocer printed plainly on every pound. And that date can never be more than 10 days old, because no can is allowed to stay on your grocer's shelf longer. Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee is always sure to be fresh and rich in flavor.

You can safely get a kick out of Dated Coffee. Order Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee tomorrow. You'll be keener, more alert, you won't give in to fatigue so easily—on Dated Coffee.

SAVES HIS $25 BUT IS SLUGGED BY ROBBERS

Edward Weigle Hides Purse
Under Auto Seat; Forced to Drive Pair Half Hour.

Edward Weigle, 4538 Gibson avenue, saved $25 from two holdup men last night by hiding his purse under the seat of his automobile, but was struck and kicked by the robbers when they found only a half dollar in his pockets.

He had just entered his car, after bowling at an alley near Seventh and St. Charles streets, when he saw the robbers hurrying toward him. He had hidden the purse before they crowded into the car, and one, who had a revolver, ordered, "Come on, let's go."

Weigle was compelled to drive for about a half hour and was finally ordered to stop back of the Art Museum in Forest Park.

When one robber found the half dollar he became angry, threw it at Weigle and cursed him. The armed man struck Weigle in the jaw with his revolver and the other robber kicked him. "Get back into that boat and beat it!" they told Weigle. He picked up the half dollar, got in the car and drove to a police station. The robbers ran from the scene.

Three Men Hold Up Cigar Store, Take $57.

Joseph Epstein, clerk in a cigar store at 1709 Franklin avenue, and two customers were held up late yesterday by three robbers, one of whom was armed. All were ordered to the rear and the robbers looted two cash registers and a safe of $57.

Two passengers picked up at Taylor avenue and Delmar boulevard by Fred Steinblas, driver of a Yellow taxi cab, directed him to the 4400W block of Cook avenue and then told him to "keep on going." Two blocks away, one drew a revolver and took $6 of company money, $3 belonging to the driver, his cap, badge and the taxi cab. The machine was later found abandoned on Finney avenue.

Two Figgly-Wiggly groceries were robbed yesterday afternoon apparently by the same holdup man.

His first appearance was at a store at 762 Hamilton boulevard where he selected groceries, laid a $1 bill on the counter and then, with his hand in his pocket to indicate he was armed, forced the manager, Walter Meyer, to give him $20 from the register. The butcher and two customers in the store were unaware of the robbery.

The second robbery was at a store at 5311 Pershing avenue an hour later where the holdup man laid down a $1 bill again and with his hand in his pocket, took $33 from Oliver Schuchardt, a clerk. Schuchardt and the manager, Robert Stohlman, were ordered to the rear as the robber fled.

Joseph Ybarra, an employee of Hotel Jefferson, was knocked down when he resisted two Negro robbers at Twelfth street and Washington avenue. He was searched and robbed of $20.50. One robber had a knife.

CAUGHT ASLEEP IN HIS AUTO 4 HOURS AFTER ROBBING BANK

Man With $457 Loot From His Second Holdup of Depository Surprised in Indiana.

By the Associated Press.
BROWNSTOWN, Ind., Feb. 21.—Caught napping in his automobile by officers he had eluded for three months, Grady Sherrill, 25 years old, of Bedford, Ind., was held today for what authorities said they believed was his second robbery of the Farmers' State Bank of Free-town, northwest of Brownstown.

Sherrill was found asleep in an automobile less than four hours after a robber had taken $400 yesterday from the bank, scene of a $2012.50 holdup last Nov. 28. Officers said $457 was found in his possession.

Sheriff Meredith K. Stewart and others who had searched for Sherrill as the accomplice of Austin Bell and Manuel Glover in the first robbery, said the young man admitted yesterday's holdup. It was at Sherrill's home in Bedford that officers surprised and arrested Bell after the first robbery. Twenty-year prison sentences were imposed on Bell and Glover, who was arrested at San Bernardino, Cal., and returned here. Both men, officers said, named Sherrill as their accomplice.

vice Co. carriers and such supplementary lines and feeders as may be necessary. In the event that we cannot secure this co-ordination and the system as proposed cannot be financed by private capital, and after all legal procedure to this end has been exhausted, then the only alternative is for the city to take advantage of other provisions of the act which gives authority for appointment of the commission, and establish the co-ordinated system under some form of municipal ownership.

Control of the entire transportation system in this event would be vested in the nonpartisan commission. Neun continues. The city would have power to condemn any property needed for its transportation scheme. Neun regards home rule of transportation as essential, saying control by the State Public Service Commission has been an obstacle to solution of the transportation problem. Either the Public Service Commission law or the State Constitution would have to be amended, to give home rule, or municipal ownership must be adopted, Neun explains. He advocates a legal change to establish home rule if private ownership of transit facilities is to be continued. Neun concludes: "If private capital will not furnish us with the co-ordinated transportation system I favor municipal ownership, or municipal ownership with private operation. But any form of municipal ownership which it may be necessary to adopt must give a guarantee to the city that the transportation system would be operated efficiently and would be kept out of politics.

The plan outlined herewith, in my opinion, not only establishes a definite policy for the future, but it offers a constructive and workable plan for solving our transportation problem expeditiously." The statement will be read by Neun at 7:30 o'clock tonight on radio station WLL.

Mass. bank president, resulted yesterday in the arrest of John Jr., 15-year-old classmate of Lynch's son in the Stockbridge High School.

Rose was arrested on a charge of extortion in the Pittsfield Postoffice after, police said, he had insisted for mail for "Herbert Spencer," which was the name Lynch had directed to place on the envelope containing the money.
Police said the boy told them he was the note, which threatened serious consequences to Lynch's son if the demand for money were not met. They quoted him as saying he had sent it to a cousin in New York, who re-mailed it. Police expressed the opinion that the cousin had no knowledge of the letter's contents.

Lynch, president of the Housatonic National Bank of Stockbridge, a former vice-president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, received the letter Thursday.
Lynch sought the advice of police, State police and Pittsfield authorities in the investigation.

For three days a watch was maintained in the Pittsfield Postoffice, but no claimant appeared yesterday afternoon, when Lynch and another boy entered the office. Police said Rose went to the general delivery window, as soon as he had inquired for mail for Herbert Spencer, a State policeman and a Pittsfield officer saw him under arrest.

Young Rose said, according to captors, that he wrote the letter last Monday while in High school.

Rose's companion was not arrested because police said they thought he was unaware of Rose's plot.

'SECRET SIX' INCORPORATED

Chicago Crime Investigating Group Lists Six Members.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The "Secret Six" filed a certificate of organization yesterday with the County Recorder's office, disclosing the extra official crime combating group has been incorporated.

Three incorporators were listed in the certificate—Alexander Jamie, chief investigator of the "Secret Six"; Don L. Kocken, an assistant, and Charles Guistrine, a salesman.

The organization certificate said the "Secret Six" would "make investigations and furnish information to public officials, law enforcing agencies and the public; investigate violations of Federal and State laws and municipal ordinances; and aid public officials in enforcement of the law."

UNION STATION GUIDE QUITS AFTER 30 YEARS

Head of Information Bureau Retires So He Can
"Travel a Little."

After 43 years of service with the Terminal Railroad Association, the last 30 as manager of the Information Bureau at Union Station, Sam
R. Hewlett retired yesterday.

Ruddy of complexion, erect and sprightly, Hewlett, who is 65 years old, recalled with interest some of the incidents of his long career today at his home, 63 Vandeventer place.

"The old station certainly isn't the same as it used to be," he said.
"I've never seen traffic drop in volume as it has during the depression. Of course, all business is that way, too, I guess, but there's no question the automobile and motorbus have taken a lot of the traffic."

"The Information Bureau formerly had 12 assistants, but now there are only eight and they're consolidating it with the ticket office.
During the World's Fair I had 16 assistants and I just about worked 24 hours a day. We had to plan schedules and make arrangements for incoming parties two and three months in advance, with changes necessary all the time."

Hewlett's retirement became necessary because of poor eyesight.

"Otherwise I'd have a good many years ahead of me down there," he explained. He and his wife have no definite plans for the future except to "travel a little," he said.
He will receive a pension starting March 1, when his retirement officially begins.

WIFE CAUSES ARREST OF MAN AND DIVORCEE

Sees Unemployed Mate and Woman from Street Car and Calls Police.

Riding west in an Olive street car near Grand boulevard yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Rose Raffle, 1429 Blackstone, saw her husband, Sam, unemployed salesman, with a woman.

Mrs. Raffle had charged her husband with nonsupport in a warrant issued by the Prosecuting Attorney, and had been looking for him for three weeks. She got off the car, and followed Raffle and his companion to a restaurant on North Boyle avenue. Then she called police.

A radio message broadcast from headquarters directed officers in a scout car to meet Mrs. Raffle at Boyle and Maryland avenues. She accompanied the officers to the restaurant, pointing out her husband to them. Raffle furnished bond on the warrant. The woman, a divorcée, was booked for Police Court on a charge of disturbing Mrs. Raffie's peace.

Mrs. Raffle told a reporter that she and her husband had been married 14 years. They have three children, Bernice, 15; Renee Jean, 8, and Harvey, 6 years old. Raffle met the other woman four years ago when she and her husband were neighbors of the Raffles.

Last May, according to the wife,
Raffle asked her to divorce him.
She says she refused and pawned jewelry to send him to Chicago to look for work. He failed to communicate with her, she says, and she swore out the warrant. Three weeks ago she learned that he had returned to St. Louis, but she was unable to find him until yesterday.

Mrs. Raffle said her husband had failed to support his family for several years, forcing her to seek aid from Jewish charities. "The charity people offered Sam several jobs," she added, "but he said he could not work for $15 a week."

The woman arrested denied to a reporter that she had associated with Raffle. She explained that she chanced to meet him on the street yesterday a short time before they were seen by his wife. The police court case was continued until March 7 to permit the woman to file cross-charges of peace disturbance against Mrs. Raffle.

YES, YOUR THROAT IS INFLAMED—DRIY, I ADVISE PERTUSSIN. IT STIMULATES THE FLOW OF NATURAL THROAT MOISTURE—CHECKS COUGHS—NATURE'S WAY.

I NEVER SAW YOU GET RID OF A COUGH SO FAST BEFORE.

PERTUSSIN CERTAINLY WORKS QUICKLY!

That's why doctors prescribe it. Let "mother throat" do its work! Ask your druggist for PERTUSSIN.

KEEP YOUR YOUTH and Attractiveness

Years Do Not Really Count Men Judge You By Your Actual Appearance.

Every woman is anxious to keep her youth and attractiveness. There is one condition most common to-day that quickly destroys youthful appearance. Every woman is subject to its deadly action. Many times it goes unnoticed. A famous London medical authority has called it Intestinal Stasis.

YOUR APPEARANCE SUFFERS In common language, it is the too-slow movement of waste matter through the intestinal tract. When Intestinal Stasis sets in "blue spells" start to appear. Nervousness and a tired, listless feeling become common. Your complexion suffers severely. Pimples, bolls, sallow complexion and many blemishes often break out. Telltale shadows and that well-known "worn-out" look make their appearance. Sleepless nights bring rings about the eyes and noticeable wrinkles.

GUARD AGAINST OLD AGE You can safeguard yourself against these unpleasant signs of old age, however, by using Adierka. This thirty-year-old remedy brings lasting benefits because it not only rids your system of accumulated poisons, but its mild tonic effect stimulates and strengthens digestive organs. This helps in preventing the return of Intestinal Stasis and the many ailments that destroy youth and beauty. Use Adierka once or twice a week. It is the quick, positive way to prevent and from showing too soon. Remember that youthful appearance once lost is gone forever. Don't take chances on losing yours. Get Adierka today at any drug store. For FREE TRIAL, write Adierka, Dept. "S," 374 St. Paul, Minn.

WINS SUIT AGAINST ESTATE OF MOTHER

Arthur E. Blumer Is Awarded $34,785 in Action to Break Will.

A verdict for $34,785 in favor of Arthur E. Blumer, a salesman of 7437 Melrose avenue, which constitutes the amount of a suit plus interest brought against the estate of his mother, Mrs. Louise Blumer, was returned yesterday at Clayton by Circuit Judge McElhinney. Blumer had brought suit to break the will of his mother, who died in 1931, and asked for a judgment of $32,041. The will left the bulk of the estate, valued at that time at $41,000, to the German Protestant Orphans' Home; $2000 to Mrs. Julia Selmeister, a maid of Mrs. Blumer; and $5 to her son. The estate has since decreased in value so that it just covers the amount of Blumer's suit plus $2744.85 interest.

Arthur E. Blumer brought suit on the grounds that his father, Emias Blumer, who died in 1915, had left his real and personal property to his wife with the provision that it go to their son at her death. Judge McElhinney ruled that Mrs. Blumer had a life interest only in the estate and that she merely held it in trust for her son, to whom it was to go on her death. She was entitled only to the income from the estate and was bound to turn it over to her son. Having failed to do this in her will, it was now the duty of the executor to do so. The elder Blumer was during his life manager of the St. Louis Sash and Door Co. At the time of her death, his wife lived at 6902 Hunter avenue. Glendy E. Arnold, attorney for Arthur Blumer, said yesterday that his client had agreed to pay Mrs. Selmeister the $2000 which Mrs. Blumer willed to her.

NEW EVIDENCE IN SUIT FOR SHARE AS WIDOW

Nurse in Deposition Says Grocer Who Left $100,000 Denied Woman Was Wife.

Trial of the claim of Mrs. Mary Theis Strickland, 4327 Clayton avenue, to share in the $100,000 estate of Albin Strickland, retired grocer, as his widow was scheduled to begin in Circuit Court today with new testimony from Strickland's nurse that he said the claimant was not his wife but his housekeeper. Strickland was 73 years old when he died in 1929. The claimant is about 45.

The claimant, seeking half of the estate, was recognized as Strickland's widow by Probate Judge Holtcamp in a decision sustaining her motion for an allowance pending settlement of the estate. The decision was appealed to the Circuit Court by Mrs. Samuel Ludwig, Strickland's niece and principal beneficiary under his will.

The new testimony was given in a deposition yesterday by Mrs. Kathryn Kuchelman Boul of Sedalia, Mo., who told of Strickland's attitude toward the claimant during his last illness. Mrs. Boul was his day nurse at St. Mary's Hospital for two months preceding his death on Oct. 3, 1929, she said.

The witness told of efforts to exclude the claimant, whom she knew only as "Mary," from the hospital except during visiting hours. "When I asked her to come only during visiting hours," Mrs. Boul said, "she was offended and said she was Mr. Strickland's wife. When I asked him about it, he seemed surprised and said, 'She is not my wife; she is my housekeeper.' He told me his wife was dead."

Then I told her that Mr. Strickland said he didn't want to see her and she said: 'He's been doped; I'll look into this.'"

Referring to a subsequent conference between the claimant and a lawyer, Mrs. Boul said that the lawyer inquired if she were claiming as Strickland's common law wife and what settlement she wanted.

"Mary said, 'I'm tired of hearing about common law wife, let's forget about that,'" the nurse testified. "The lawyer asked her if she would settle for $200."

"And what did she say?" the nurse was asked.

"She just said, 'Huh!' was the reply."

Under cross-examination the nurse conceded that the claimant shaved Strickland every day for about two weeks, but added that she quit after he said he did not want to see her any more. The nurse maintained that she had no special animosity toward the claimant, insisting that she had merely sought to prevent her from calling on the patient at irregular hours.

At the hearing in Probate Court the claimant testified that she had gone through a civil marriage ceremony with Strickland in 1915, only to learn several years later that the first Mrs. Strickland did not die until 1918.

EASTERN INSURANCE FIRMS OPPOSE BILL

Measure Requires Investment in State of 75 Pct. of Reserves on Missouri Policies.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21.—Representatives of Eastern life insurance companies are expected to appear tonight before the House Committee on Insurance in opposition to a bill to force them to invest in Missouri 75 per cent of their reserves on Missouri policies.

So far none of the Missouri companies has appeared in opposition to the measure. To the contrary, it seems that they are rather friendly to it.

Representative McCawley, its author, takes the position the requirement for Missouri investment of insurance company reserves would have the effect of forcing the companies to retain in Missouri their present investments in real estate, and that it would tend to prevent them from foreclosing on Missouri farms and other real estate on which they hold mortgages.

The opposition contends that it would seriously hamper the companies in the investment of their funds, and that it would be so onerous that many of the larger companies might withdraw from business in the State. They point to a similar law in Texas which caused several of the larger companies to withdraw. Information here is that some of them have returned to Texas. Under the terms of the McCawley bill, 75 per cent of the reserves on Missouri business would be required to be invested in first mortgages on Missouri real estate, on real estate bonds, on bonds of the State or its subdivisions, or bonds of private corporations in the State which had not defaulted in interest in the past five years. It would apply to life insurance policies and endowment and annuity contracts. The licensing of the companies to transact business in the State would depend on their compliance with the law.

INTERMEDIATE CREDIT BANK LOANS SHOW INCREASE

Total $244,678 for January Compared to $206,224 Year Ago.

Loans and discounts by the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Louis during January were $244,678, compared to $206,224 a year ago. For November and December, 1932, they totaled $1,326,163 as against $926,849 for a like period a year earlier.

The increase in business, according to Wood Netherland, president of the institution, is accounted for by the larger number of local agricultural credit corporations, livestock loan companies and banks offering agricultural paper as collateral for loans or discounts, the greater demand for this type of credit and the lower rate of interest established by the bank during the last year.

"NO INDEED, MADAM

"A Post-Dispatch reader-service policy would not pay you indemnity if you caught your fingers in a washing machine wringer---

"BECAUSE of its generous coverage of specific accident risks—at very low cost—it cannot protect against all accidents. It must be limited to the specific risks. In the training of myself and all other Post-Dispatch sales representatives, we are taught to explain this carefully. We are instructed never to exaggerate or misrepresent the facts about the coverage offered by Post-Dispatch policies or competitive policies.

"Reader-service insurance does offer much protection at low premium cost. This is made possible by application of the group insurance principle. You can get more value as one of several thousand insured readers than you could obtain individually from an insurance company.

"But no policy's terms may be made so generous that the amount of the claims paid exceeds the premiums collected by the insurance company. Such a result would eventually bankrupt any institution.

"If one policy offered at the same cost as a competitive policy seems to be more generous and features an advantage in some particular clause, a corresponding deduction will be found elsewhere in the policy. For example, one reader-service policy offers a small weekly indemnity for any kind of accident. But to offset this, the policy cuts indemnity for automobile accident death or dismemberment to $1000 as against $1500 offered by competitive policies of the same class, and limits its coverage for automobile accidents to privately owned vehicles of the exclusively pleasure type.

"Since all reader-service policies offered by St. Louis newspapers are linked with newspaper subscription proposals, you should consider the value of each newspaper's contents—plus the value of the insurance. The reader who pays 50 cents a month for his newspaper and 10 cents a month for insurance is really making a total outlay of 60 cents a month, or $7.20 a year. The question should be: 'What am I to receive for $7.20?'—not merely: 'What am I to receive for $1.20?'

"When you compare the combined value of the several newspapers' contents together with the respective merits of their insurance offerings, you make intelligent, careful choice. That's the way I like to sell, too."

To assure full satisfaction, you are advised to read any reader-service insurance policy carefully.

IG YEAR
RESERVE SOCCER PLAYERS TO BE BARRED FROM FIELD SUNDAY

By Herman Wecke.
In an effort to forestall further trouble, such as broke out in the second round cup match between the Andersons and Detroit team at Sportmans Park, Winton Barker, Western commissioner, announced today that he would insist on the enforcement of the rule which bars all those other than those participating in the match from the field.

This means that the reserve athletes of the St. Louis club and Andersons, rivals in a Western semifinal next Sunday, will have to find other places to roost than the box which have been built along the south side line, especially for the purpose.

Barker also declared that something would have to be done about the "time clock," located in the field bleachers. Both the Japs and Andersons of Malta clubs complained that it was not correct and that whereas they figured they had some 15 minutes to play in half, only a few moments remained.

It has been noticed that the watcher of this clock does not at all times perform his task, as on numerous occasions the clock pushed up 10 minutes at a time. This is entirely misleading to the rival contenders.

Brannigan's Tough Task.
Barker gave it as his opinion that Richard Brannigan, who handles the Anderson-Malta match, has the toughest assignment a referee was ever called upon to face in a St. Louis game.

Brannigan gave it as his opinion that the sideline boxes for the reserves were the cause of all the trouble and that they should be eliminated. He said that if it had been a league match, he would have banished the athletes and, necessary, forfeited the match, but that he stood for a lot of things because he had to protect the St. Louis fans as well as league officials.

For the semi-final, T. Crompton, a Chicago official, will be brought in to handle the match, while Oscar Mossman will go to the Windy City to referee the Spartans-Slavias match. The winners of the two battles will fight it out in the best two out of three series for the Western title, now held by the St. Louis club.

Committee to Handle Case.
Barker said that he could not intercede for Elmer Benoit, Anderson halfback, who was automatically suspended for his fight with Halback Dugan of the Malpas. He declared that the committee as a whole would be called upon to act on the case. Barker said that before his departure, Manager McCauley of the Malpas told him "that the fight was not Benoit's fault, that Dugan struck first and that all the local athletes was doing was to protect himself."

Meanwhile the two local teams have started practice for the important battle. The Stix will hold their regular workouts at Sportsman's Park, today and Thursday afternoon, while the Andersons will go through the paces at the North Side Y. Billy Gonsalves will make his first appearance of the Stix forward line in the match while Marre hopes to have Sam Ducker and Gene McCauley in shape.

Here is Kerry Patch, winner of the richest two-year-old stake of 1932, and one of the choices for the 1933 derby. Kerry Patch is owned by Lee Rosenberg, formerly of St. Louis. He is by Desperate Desmond-Polly McGiggles, and is quoted at 20 to 1 in the future book.

Real Thoroughbreds.
NOT all of the thoroughbreds connected with the 1933 Kentucky Derby belong to the horse family. Consider the case of Col. Matt Winn, who, with his associates in the management of Churchill Downs, has arranged to carry on the Derby with $50,000 added money as usual. That ought to put the Colonel in the thoroughbred class. It was really a sporting gesture.

While the rich Pimlico race track was cutting in half the Derby's great spring rival stake, the Kentucky Derby was being reduced to $50,000, the much poorer Kentucky course could maintain its status as the premier race of the year. The "gas" of the Kentucky Derby was reduced but 10 shots at the basket during this period. The Spartans, handicapped in size, counted but three field baskets. Magee, Pesout and Wente, with five points, were high scorers for the winners, while Barry Mendelson, with six, paced the losers.

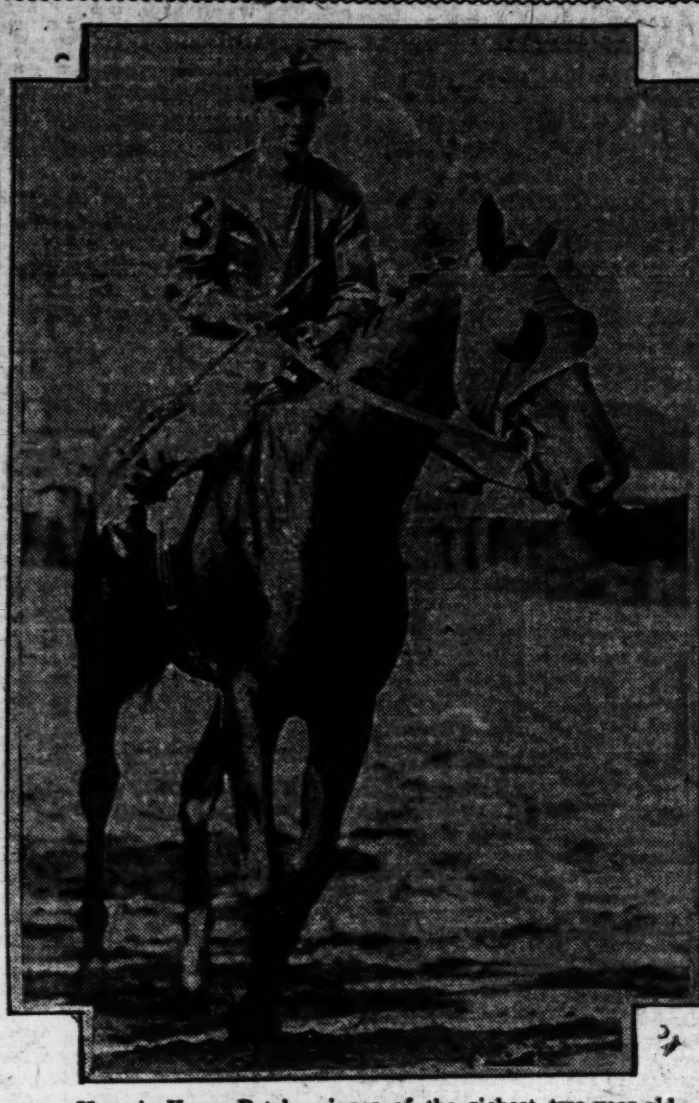

Libsons Have Easy Time.
The Libson St. Joseph game was about as one-sided as the score would indicate, although the Sodality players jumped off to a 3-to-0 lead in the early part of the encounter. Once under way, however, the Libson offensive stars scored at will and the count at the end of the half was 28 to 13.

Brannigan Hope, with a dozen points, McDowell, with nine, and Wente, with eight, led the Libson scoring, while Grace, St. Joseph also had eight.

HOGAN HOPES TO AVENGE DEFEAT
AT HUFF'S HANDS

Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion of the world, according to the New York Commission, and Al Stillman, St. Louisian, who meet tomorrow night in a 15-round return match at the Arena, will take it easy today, their training finished. Neither is the kind of boxer that requires a long period of time to fit himself for a match for the reason that they box frequently and, as a result, keep in good condition.

This bout will be the main event of five which Jack Tippet, promoter for the Walter J. Hatfield Post of the American Legion, has arranged which are scheduled for 43 rounds.

Other Bout.
With the windup are two eight-round contests, one between Joe Huff and Billy Hogan, welterweights, and another bringing together Alvin Matthews and Speedy Moulton, Negro middleweights. In two six-round battles, Roy Mitchell meets Nick Broglio and Leslie Schulte tackles the veteran Tom Pivac.

There is considerable interest being manifested by the fans in the Hogan-Huff contest, which, like the Stillman-Rosenbloom bout, is a return affair. Huff, a former Mississippi Valley amateur champion, upset the dope in the last meeting of the two when he gained the decision over Hogan by a comfortable margin after Billy had put him on the floor in the first round for a count of nine.

Hogan, a protégé of Gus Wilson and stablemate of Joe Ghonoly, created quite a sensation on the Pacific Coast, winning four bouts by knockouts, and he was pained beyond expression at the setback at the hands of Huff. He hopes to reverse the decision.

But Joe proved in their first meeting that Billy's reputation would not awe him. He also proved that he is a pretty smart ring general, for after that one wallop which Hogan landed with his right hand in the opening three minutes, Huff never gave him a chance to repeat the dose. He found a defense for that blow, which is Hogan's best, immediately, and beat Huff with a fine left-handed attack.

Huff is married and has a child 8 months old, although Joe himself is but 30 years of age. He is handicapped in training through the fact that he works every day as a mechanic, and hence hasn't sufficient time to put in at the gymnasium.

Joe is a powerful puncher, also, and it would not be surprising to see him defeat Hogan again, although Billy showed in his one appearance here that he is a pretty classy kid.

WRESTLER THROWN OUT OF RING, LOSES BOUT
After wrestling for an hour and 15 minutes, Les Steffer was awarded the victory over Charlie Keuhn when Keuhn was unable to continue after being thrown from the ring in a mat bout last night at North St. Louis Turner Hall.

Results follow:
Joe Brungard, 170, and Grover Goodall, 165, wrestled 30 minutes to a draw.
Eugene Adams, 165, and Wesley Wagner, 200, when Wagner was disqualified. Time, 8 minutes and 12 seconds.
Cyclone Robinson, 170, three Edmond Handicapped block. Time, 11 minutes and 15 seconds.
Otto Bessler, 155, three Cyril Dickhoff, 204, when Dickhoff was disqualified. Time, 4 minutes and 7 seconds.

Mat Match Announced.
Robert Corby, Gary (Ind.) grappler, will meet Walter McMillan in the third preliminary of the Future City Gymnasium wrestling show Thursday night. The gymnasium is located at 1122 Washington. Five matches will comprise the card.

Billy Scharbert, weighing 163 pounds, will battle with Ted Sharkey, 172-pounder, in the feature and only finish contest.

MAN MUST FIGHT
by GENE TUNNEY

Although Barred, Jimmy Bronson Goes to Dressing Room and Sees Dempsey's Hands Bandaged.

SYNOPSIS
The return battle between Tunney and Dempsey is right at hand with Chicago and most of the sports world agitated by "manipulation" gossip and sensational canards. Camp and boxing commission conferences discuss ring regulations in detail, including that special one on the significant knock-down neutral corner rule. It's the night of September 22, 1927. The principals are getting ready to march to the ring in the east, crowded Soldiers' Field Arena.

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT
In the dressing-room the bandaging of my hands was watched by Gus Wilson and another Dempsey follower. I had argued for weeks to have the bandaging done in the ring as it had been done in Philadelphia and for which a provision had been inserted in the contract between Rickard and me. I was overruled by Leo Ryan and the Commission. Game little Jimmy Bronson had been advised that he was persona non grata with the Dempsey camp, and that if he came over to the dressing-room to watch the bandaging for me he would be assaulted. Jimmy did not mind taking the chance, but Gibson insisted that he take Captain Mike Grady with him. "Just in case."

So Jimmy went to Dempsey's dressing-room, Mike Grady and Lou Briz with him. Someone had been advised that Jimmy was persona non grata with the Dempsey camp, and that if he came over to the dressing-room to watch the bandaging for me he would be assaulted. Jimmy did not mind taking the chance, but Gibson insisted that he take Captain Mike Grady with him. "Just in case."

TRACK ATHLETES THREATEN STRIKE TO HELP COACH, AT WASHINGTON

As a result of a recent announcement that Bob Doyle would not be retained as track coach next year, the athletes at Washington University are considering the advisability of going on a "strike" in sympathy with Doyle.

A meeting of athletes with Dr. F. H. Ewerhardt, one of the members of the athletic council, will be held this afternoon at the "Olympic" in the hope of reaching some agreement as to the retention of Doyle.

Doyle, who had been assistant coach, became head coach of the track squad last year after Johnny Davis, who had been removed at the close of the spring season. He was engaged by the chancellor for $300 and says that he was promised a raise in salary next year. This, however, is disputed.

Recently retrenchment necessities resulted in a letter from the chancellor to Dr. Ewerhardt notifying him that it would be necessary to discontinue Doyle's services next year. Ewerhardt notified Doyle.

Doyle then explained that he not only had been promised a job next year but that his salary was to be substantially increased. Doyle stated that a member of the athletic committee had made him the guarantee. The university says the offer was not made by anyone authorized to deal with Doyle.

If the track men should decide to go on a sympathy strike it is probable that the appropriations for track athletics this year will be transferred to some other sport. If the strike plan fails to develop, Doyle must fulfill his present contract and will be replaced by one of the other members of the coaching staff next season.

Rock Girls Win, 24-10.
The Rock High School girls' basketball team won from the Shell aggregation, 24 to 10, in a game last night at Rock Church Hall. Rita Duddy of the winners was high scorer with 13 points.

Do you want to feel always at your best? To meet each day with fresh vitality? You can. For when you're healthy, you're happy.

A delicious cereal provides the "bulk" that is so important in overcoming common constipation. Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is twice as rich in iron as an equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. What a relief to enjoy an appetizing cereal instead of taking patent medicines.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. Directions on the red and green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ALLEGED TO HAVE PAID SELVES DIVIDEND OUT OF FIRM CAPITAL
Treasury Undersecretary and Four Others Defendants in $391,068 Action by Bondholders.

By the Associated Press.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 21.—Two suits, seeking to recover $391,068.19 allegedly fraudulently paid by the defendants to themselves as dividends from the defunct Graham & Morton Transportation Co. of Indiana were filed yesterday in Circuit Court here.

The defendants are Perry K. Heath of Washington, Undersecretary of the Treasury; Stanley Morton of Benton Harbor, Nathaniel Robbins of Grand Haven, Noyes L. Avery of Grand Rapids and the estate of the late former United States Senator William Alden Smith. Administrators of the estate include United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Grand Rapids.

Holders of defaulted bonds filed the actions.

The suits charge Heath, Morton, Robbins, Avery and Smith in 1923 declared a dividend of $391,068 "ostensibly out of surplus," which was paid only to those five as holders of entire stock, although in reality the dividend was paid "entirely out of capital of company or funds that should have gone into capital."

DEATH OF BOY LAID TO FRIGHT
By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Feb. 21.—Fright, due possibly to a sudden noise in the underbrush of a ravine near his home, today was advanced as the probable cause of the death of Ebert Hollister, 8 years old, for whom a nation-wide search had been conducted.

The boy disappeared Oct. 22. Although police, neighbors and Eoy Scouts searched the ravine, his body was not found until yesterday.

The theory that fear caused his death was advanced by Coroner A. J. Peares, who said, after an autopsy, that Ebert had an enlarged thymus gland. Such a condition, he said, often causes fright to such an extent as to be fatal.

CITY TO FIGHT BILL REDUCING TAX RATE
Measure Would Cut St. Louis Annual Revenue by About $4,400,000.
The city's protest against a bill pending before the Legislature to reduce the rate of tax levy in Missouri municipalities by 20 per cent will be presented to the House Ways and Means Committee at Jefferson City tonight by Charles J. Dolan, the city's special tax counsel.

LACK OF HAIR IS SO unnecessary

Department, courts and Board of Election Commissioners alone take up $7,000,000 of the city's taxes annually. Under the proposed reduction, that would leave us only $3,500,000, in round numbers, to support the Fire Department, the hospitals, streets and sewers, department and all the other municipal activities.

The Comptroller said that the city's deficit at the close of the fiscal year on April 10 would be $1,000,000, according to the best estimates now available, in spite of economies totaling about $2,400,000.

Tax delinquencies are being reduced slowly, he added. For taxes due last Dec. 31, delinquencies still total about $8,500,000, of which the city's share is about 60 per cent, the rest being due the State and Board of Education.

"In view of these considerations, he concluded, "it is absolutely necessary that the city oppose the pending bill to reduce the city's revenue. Our situation would be most serious if the bill were passed."

Comptroller Nolte characterized as "hog wild" the proposed legislation, which would cut the city's allowable levy from $1.38 on the $100 of assessed valuation to $1.08. Deducting from the $1.08 levy a total of 5 cents for the Art Museum, Public Library and Zoo, the city would have only $1.03. Taking into account the recent cut by the Assessor of approximately 10.5 per cent in assessed valuation, this levy would give the city about $10,600,000 to operate on annually, compared to the present levy of approximately $15,000,000.

"Passage of the bill would be ruinous," the Comptroller said after a conference with Dolan. "The Police

Cover the left half of the above picture. Note how old the face looks because the scalp is bare. Then cover the right half and notice how much younger the same face appears because the scalp is covered with hair.

NO SURE method of preventing baldness or promoting hair growth was known thirty years ago. Then—men experimented with cure-all remedies which usually did more harm than good. Now—few old-fashioned men still use their scalps as experimental laboratories for patent remedies and barber-shop treatments. But modern-minded men have learned that baldness can be avoided and hair growth promoted, when proper specialized treatment is administered to the scalp.

Thinking men realize that the science of hair culture has advanced in pace with other scientific discoveries. They know that Thomas treatment offers the most precise, reliable method known to modern science, of overcoming the various types of dandruff, stopping abnormal hair-fall, and stimulating normal hair growth. Thomas is helping 1500 persons each day to have good, healthy heads of hair—and can do the same for you.

Jump Takeouts of One No Trump

HERE are some examples of minimum hands of one no trump mentioned yesterday, on which the jump take-out may be made in the long suit:

When the suit holding is solid—for instance, K Q J x x—so that it is certain that the necessary honor to insure no loser in that suit must be held by the no-trump bidder.

When the suit holding is not solid, the outside strength slightly, at any rate to the extent of accepting a little secondary silver in place of primary gold as legal tender.

One may severely make these statements on fewer primary values, as scheduled yesterday, when playing to shade the outside strength slightly.

has a very long suit, because that suit is almost sure to be solid—at least within a trick—and will prove an irresistible success weapon in the hands of the bidder.

With a seven-card suit to work with, the opponents are likely to be squeezed out of any question they may hold to protect a suit, and even kings are likely to be slaughtered by the squeeze, especially if two such cards are in the same hand. It becomes a question of whether or not two aces can be cashed against you. Lacking these aces, the opener must start by signing off.

Now, if the responding hand has two aces, he must convey this information by a raise in no trumps. If he had a second biddable suit headed by the ace, another jump bid (in that suit) would convey the same information.

Opening bidder, holding only one ace, could now continue the slam bidding on learning that his partner had two aces, assuming that he himself had originally bid a sound no-trumper, with proper values in the primary form of kings and king queens. The process of eliminating losers, the safe road to slam contracts, could then be resumed.

Telegraph and Telephone. Comparisons between auction and contract bidding always call to my mind these two methods of communication. In auction we had to deal in probabilities, and, as our first bid was likely to be our last, we had to convey every possible bit of information in it and include every kind of assumption. Similarly, in a telegram we ask all our questions or present all our arguments or instructions in one message.

In contract, however, we are privileged to conduct a telephone conversation with a partner. To attempt to tell him everything in one breath, by "giving at once the full number of raises in the hand," without allowing him to participate in the talk, is like monopolizing the three minutes of a monologue, and then being surprised if we are cut off, the talking having been all on one side and the listening all on the other side. Nevertheless, as you read this many tens of thousands of people in the world are thus missing the facilities provided for them, both at the bridge tables and in the telephone booths of our Western civilization.

LISTEN, WORLD!

by Elsie Robinson

We're All Restless—So's a Monkey!

SHE'S restless; wishes she weren't.

"I envy placid people," she writes. "People who are contented with their lot. I'm so different. I'm never satisfied. As soon as I'm in one place, I wish I were in another. If I buy a red dress, I wish I'd chosen a blue."

Even about that way about people. I can't stay contented with my friends I get terribly fond of people and then, suddenly, it all seems so boring to death with them.

"Of course, I know it is because I have a high-strung temperament. Some people are like cows; they hardly feel anything. And I am just the opposite. I feel too much. Maybe I ought to be glad I am that way, but it certainly complicates life."

Sounds familiar, doesn't it? You've heard complaints like that before. Perhaps you've made them about your own "restlessness."

Then consoled yourself with the thought that you were "high strung."

If so, better get over it, stranger. You're handing yourself no complacent when you confess to "restlessness." Restless people are super souls. They simply are uncontented souls.

Restlessness is jungle stuff. The most restless creatures on earth are monkeys. Like all other beasts, they are at the mercy of their impulses. If they are in one place, they wish they were in another. If they begin to do one thing, they weary of it in five seconds and want something else. No animal is as filled with great schemes, or makes as much noise about them, as a monkey—and no animal accomplishes less.

RESTLESSNESS ISN'T THE SIGN OF HIGH STRUNG NATURE. IT IS THE SIGN OF AN UNSTRUNG NATURE. OF A NATURE THAT HAS NO DEFINITE CENTER OF PLAN; THAT KNOWS NO CONTROL.

Restlessness is jungle stuff. Control is civilized stuff. Any ape can be, and every ape is, restless. But only a highly civilized man can resist his herd impulses.

THAT IS WHAT CIVILIZATION IS—MAN'S WARFARE AGAINST THE JUNGLE; MAN'S STRUGGLE TO CONTROL HIS HERD IMPULSES AND USE THEM TO ADVANTAGE.

That warfare starts for each man when he is born. None of us is a born civilized. We all start as savage, excited, inquisitive little savages, utterly lacking in control.

"Never satisfied? Never contented? Always restless? Quickly bored?" So's a baby. So's a monkey. But a MAN battles his restlessness. A man fights for contentment.

Contentment doesn't just happen. People aren't "naturally" calm and contented, loyal and steadfast. We must work for, war for, every form of control.

No man can think or feel in one straight line for five minutes. No man can decide to do one thing without being tempted to do a dozen other things instead. No human spirit is ever 100 per cent satisfied. Behind the steady hand and the steely eye lurks, always, the old jungle madness. That's the way we're all made—LONGING TO LIVE AND LOVE ALL OVER THE PLACE.

And most of us still go jungle. We spend our lives snatching at this and that; crying one moment, laughing the next; buying a red dress and wishing we'd bought a blue. And always dreaming that some day, we'll stumble upon the magic combination which will make us happy and content.

But, of course, we never do! WE FIND CONTENTMENT ONLY WHEN WE DELIBERATELY CHOOSE TO BE CONTENTED. AND THEN STUBBORNLY STICK TO THAT CHOICE. WE ARE SATISFIED ONLY WHEN WE MAKE UP OUR MINDS TO STAY PUT.

PEACE IS NEVER ACCIDENTAL. NEITHER IS HAPPINESS. OR CONTENTMENT. THEY ARE BOTH THE FRUIT OF DISCIPLINED DECISION AND DETERMINED SELF-CONTROL.

CAN A VILDETH THROUGH LIFE LIKE MONKEYS—OR STRIDE THROUGH LIFE LIKE MEN. IT'S UP TO US!

Fashion Hints Gleaned From Our Own St. Louis Shops.

By SYLVIA

RAISES her to a glove designer.

We can wear white gloves this spring, looking as dressed up as we please without having to worry about so many cleaning bills. I spied a pair of white kid gloves in one shop the other day that have blackened their palms. Why did I wear white gloves? Why did I have to wait all these years for such a clever, smoke-resisting idea? Sitting on the white side is black, thus preparing the spectator for the shock when the hand is turned over, revealing the black side of this smart accessory.

Have you a yen to be a weather prophet, surprising all your friends by your ability to predict fair days or foul? Then tie yourself to a certain St. Louis store where some clipper ship weather vane are on display. They are reproductions of those used in 1854 when clipper ships traversed the waters. A glass bowl, quaintly odd in its design, hangs on a bracket attached to the wall. Water tinted with a bit of red ink partly fills the bowl and, as the changes in the weather are determined by the maneuvers of the water.

Lacquered fabric table covers enable a housewife to cheat on her laundry bills. And it is a ten to one guess that her family won't know that their food is not served on freshly ironed linen. Damask patterns are represented in the new collections as are the plaid and checked designs registering well this season. A little scrubbing with a damp cloth is all that is needed to keep these synthetic damasks looking fit.

It's nice of the bedspread manufacturers to think of our eyes and our nerves when creating merchandise. Or perhaps, credit should go to the retailers for their selections. Anyway, the new woven cotton spreads almost sell themselves. One I like has an all-over oak leaf design in a soft shade of green which all will admit is restful. Another presenting a patchwork puff design can be had in subdued and comforting shades.

The mannish influence extends even to cigarette cases. Feminine smokers now are clamoring for the long, slim enamel case designed originally to slip into a man's coat pocket. They like them because they are the right size to carry in a handbag. They have initials help them look quite swanky. They come in black, navy, red, green and brown.

If you hurry fast enough you may get downtown in time to buy a fan suit at the ridiculously low price one store has quoted. These suits are quite well tailored and no one would ever guess that you bought them for practically nothing. They come in a mannish shade of gray. Their neat-fitting jackets have the required vulgar details such as wide lapels and straight sleeves. Their skirts are generous enough to have inverted pleats both front and back.

Since prospects are good that us poor folks as well as the rich soon may be able to drink cocktails and wear high heels, liquor glasses are becoming more plebeian. Instead of hunting hounds and other symbols of the leisure class, these glasses are decorated with gay pattern designs. They have come all the way from Hungary to pep up drinking bouts.

If you hurry fast enough you may get downtown in time

"Baby has such a strong, straight back, such a fine, full chest! His head is well-shaped, his legs straight, his teeth even and sound.

"This is because he's had Bottled Sunshine, the doctor says. He started to get it when he was six weeks old, and he's had it every day."

Doctors know the importance of providing babies with one special factor, Vitamin D, which helps to build strong bones and sound, even teeth.

They tell mothers to keep the baby in the sun. In sunshine are the "vitamin D" rays babies need.

But except for a relatively few days, babies cannot get enough Vitamin D from sunshine alone.

Clouds, smog, bad weather prevent. So doctors advise Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil. It's a source of Vitamin D that mothers can depend on. It also provides the factor which promotes growth and good resistance—Vitamin A.

To ensure babies plenty of Vitamins A and D, many doctors recommend Squibb Cod-Liver Oil. Its vitamin content is guaranteed. And it's less expensive than inferior kinds which must be given in larger doses.

Get Squibb's now at any reliable drug store.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE
by WYNN

For Wednesday, Feb. 22.
STAYING better, in the latest hours. An important set of influences from the planets. You are responsible for the results you get; try to like them. First of three days for keeping eye on contract and partnership finances.
Destructive Leisure.
Part of our present problems may be due to the advances man has made mentally in the control of the world through the machine. He is able to invent and perfect; but this type of difficulty is nowhere near as much to blame as is the fact that only a few of our minds have been developed sufficiently to use the leisure we gain by the use of the machine. When grandpa wanted to see a man in the next town, he spent the day at it; it required hitching up the horse and driving 20 miles each way—an entire day's work. Today we call that man on the phone and it is all over in five minutes. Grandpa's employment in getting to the next town and back didn't improve his mind, but it kept him out of mischief that we like to get into today.
Your Year Ahead.
Much depends on the way you handle yourself during the 12 months that lie down the track, if this is your birthday. This refers particularly to emotional matters, so easy on expressing your feelings; don't let them go before you analyze them and judge their effect on other people. Avoid danger, Oct. 7 to 14 and Jan. 27 to Feb. 19, 1934.
Tomorrow.
Improve money matters until early evening; then social.
Frozen Swiss Salad.
One cup white cream cheese.
One cup chopped canned pineapple.
One-half cup chopped red cherries.
One cup whipped cream.
One-half cup mayonnaise.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.
One-fourth cup chopped pimiento.
Stuffed olives.
Cream cheese with fork. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into mold, seal tightly, bury four hours in three parts chopped ice and one part coarse salt.
This salad may be frozen by pouring into a tray in the mechanical refrigerator. It will require four hours to freeze.
To serve this salad, unmold and slice. Arrange on lettuce, top with mayonnaise.

MY Beauty Hint
By MARION VOLK

A CUBE of ice is one of the most important items on my dressing table. Skins of extremely fair type are injured by oily grime and smoky air, and the best protection is to keep the pores closed, I find. After cleansing my face with cream, I then massage the skin with the cube of ice. This frigidity closes the pores and gives the face an armor coating against dust in the air.

THE JOLLY BAKERS HAD QUITE AN EXPERIENCE

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat.)
The Jolly Bakers had quite a little experience at Carthage Wednesday night. They went to play the Carthage Baptists. The referee got into a jam with Skeet Eap, and put Skeet out of the game. This left only four Jolly Bakers to play five Baptists. In the early stages of the game "Skeeter" Eap became irritated with the manner in which "Doc" Hallowell was officiating and fired the ball at the back of Doc's head with perfect marksmanship. Near the end of the second quarter Eap again heaved the ball at the official's cranium. That's why Coach Samuels took over the refereeing.

C. E. MITCHELL ADMITS BANK WAS PARTY TO STOCK DEALS

With Money Provided by National City, Its Investment Affiliate Had Joint Account With Anaconda Copper.

I WOULDN'T DO IT AGAIN," HE SAYS

300,000 Shares of Copper Stock Bought at $100, Sold to Public at $120 With World Price Dropping—Price Now $10.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Telling Senate investigators of operations in copper stock by the National City Co., financed by the National City Bank, Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the bank's board, frankly acknowledged "today that I wouldn't do it again."

Mitchell made the statement to the Senate Banking Committee as he disclosed the details of participation by the bank's security affiliate in three joint accounts organized to trade in copper stocks.

As the banker agreed the transactions had been financed by stockholders in the bank, Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, asked if he thought it "a proper thing for a national bank to participate in a joint stock account."

"On the look made, I don't think I should do that kind of thing again," Mitchell replied, emphasizing, however, that the bank stock was issued for the purpose of setting up a fund for such trading.

Sold to Public at $120.
Pecora criticized the sale of 300,000 shares of stock in the Anaconda Copper Co. by the National City Co. to the public in 1929. He pointed out the stock, which was acquired for an average price of 100, was sold to the public at the world price of copper had dropped from 15 to 18 cents, within a month.

Mitchell said he had considered the stock, now selling between $7 and $10, was a good long-time investment and hotly challenged a suggestion by Senator Brookhart (Rep., Iowa, that "the company" had decided "it was about time to get rid of it."

The banker, taking the stand for the second successive day, was backed up by a corps of assistants and subordinates.

Mitchell told yesterday of receiving bonus payments totaling $2,500,000 during the 30 months preceding the 1929 crash, and avoiding an income tax payment in 1929 by selling stock to a member of his family at a loss of $2,800,000.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, asked Mitchell today about the general Sugar Corporation, which the National City Co. bought in 1927.

Mitchell in response to questions today said he was chairman of the Sugar company's board and that he had been made to Cuban sugar companies since 1927.
